Her Desire Reason For Big Deal

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—"Now that I have done something for you, you can do something for me."

That phrase has a familiar ring—and it rang up a big real-estate deal stemming from a lady's desire for an apartment instead of a town house.

The 77-story Chrysler building, second tallest office structure in the world, and two adjacent buildings were sold yesterday for $52 million dollars.

Where does the lady come in? Like this:

Mrs. Byron Foy, daughter of the late motor car magnate, Walter P. Chrysler, was one of the principal stockholders of the W. P. Chrysler Building Corp.

Had Eye on Apartment
Mrs. Foy owns a statelike town house on East 93rd street, but she had her eye on a certain Park avenue apartment.

Her husband knows William Zeckendorf, president of Webb & Knapp, Inc., real estate dealers. Some time ago, Foy mentioned that his wife wanted the apartment, and Zeckendorf fixed it up.

After the big sale yesterday, Zeckendorf said:
"Then the idea came into my mind, that here was the man (Foy) I needed and I told him: 'Now that I have done something for you, you can do something for me. How about selling the Chrysler building to us?' And that's how it happened."

The transaction also involved the 32-story Chrysler building east and the 30-story Graybar building. The three buildings were transferred to Webb & Knapp and the investment banking firm of Lazard Freres & Co.

Stone Ridge Man Accused Of Burglary at Stony Hollow

Forgery Charge Is Placed on Garvin

Hone Street Man Accused of Signing Woman's Name for $82.92

Elijah Garvin, 23, of 9 Hone street, was arrested at 10:30 p. m., yesterday on a charge of forgery second degree.

He was arraigned before City Judge Raymond J. Mino this morning and the case put over until Monday to permit Garvin to obtain counsel. Bail was fixed at $1,000. The district attorney was represented by Bernard A. Feeney, Jr.

It was charged that he forged the name of Beatrice Donnell of the Airport Inn to a check made out in the amount of $82.92.

Garvin was arrested by Officers Meyer Levy and Hyndrick Armstrong at 5 Canal street.

Called by Store
Mrs. Donnell notified state police at the Kingston Station at 5:30 p. m., yesterday that she had just received a call from a clerk at a local shoe store reporting that a man had tried to cash an Airport Inn check for $85.

Mrs. Donnell told state troopers that she had made out a check for $12 for an employee who had been working for her for several days and that he had probably raised the amount or had stolen a blank check and forged it.

The clerk reported to Mrs. Donnell, she said, that the man said he would cash it at the Kingston Trust Company "and be back," but at the time the only banks open were the Rondout National Bank and the State of New York Bank. These two banks were notified to be on the lookout.

Police Department which alerted its force and assigned officers to check the downtown area of the city.

Reis Cashed Check
Frank A. Reis, Jr., of Reis Liquor Store, 366 Broadway, came into police headquarters at 8 p. m. with a check he reported he had cashed about 5:45 p. m. The check was No. 747 made out for $82.92, endorsed by Elijah Garvin.

The name of Beatrice Donnell had been forged, police said.

Reis told police that when he went to the Kingston Trust Company to cash the check he was told by Ernest LeFevre, vice-president and assistant treasurer, that a "stop" had been put on all checks from the Airport Inn.

William Anderson, chairman of the fire commissioners in the Accord fire district announced yesterday that voting on the proposal of whether to authorize a $25,000 bond issue to build a new fire house, favored raising the money.

Of 258 votes cast, he said, 169 were for the fire house and 89 against.

The Accord Fire Company, which has been in existence for 13 years, has been using a rented garage for its fire house. Some time ago it bought land for a fire house, but never built one. This land was turned over to the commissioners as the site of the new fire house.

Anderson expressed thanks on behalf of the commissioners for the turnout of voters.

Clarence Barrett Taken by Trooper Ryan in Dash Through Nearby Woods

Hone Street Man Accused of Signing Woman's Name for $82.92

A Stony Hollow resident returned home Friday noon to meet a stranger dashing from his back door, and a man answering the description of the intruder was caught by state troopers after a chase through the woods a mile south of the West Hurley railroad station a short time later.

After his capture by Trooper R. I. Ryan of the Kingston station, Clarence Ellsworth Barrett, 47, who gave his address as Stone Ridge, was booked on a second degree burglary charge. Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Bernard Smith of the town of Kingston, Barrett waived examination on the charge and was ordered held for grand jury action.

Troopers were alerted about 12:15 p. m. by Armand J. Carroll of Stony Hollow, who told them he had just returned to his home and found a window pane in the back door broken.

Intruder Makes Getaway
Upon opening the door, Carroll related, he met a strange man attempting to make an exit from the building. Carroll grabbed the man, he said, but the intruder broke away and ran west along the Catskill Mountain Branch railroad tracks.

Sgt. Arthur A. Reilly, BCI, and Trooper Ryan were dispatched from the Kingston barracks and upon his arrival Sgt. Reilly summoned Trooper J. Ripa.

Ripa began walking the tracks westward from Stony Hollow, and Trooper Ryan was driven to West Hurley where he began walking the tracks in the opposite direction.

After he had walked about a mile, Ryan said, he spotted a man walking toward him. The man saw the trooper at the same time and broke for the woods.

Cuffs Calmed Him
Ryan caught up with the man, later identified as Barrett, and was able to get his handcuffs on him. Barrett did not offer any resistance once the cuffs were on, Ryan reported.

Troopers claimed today that their investigation has disclosed that Barrett has "served time" on previous convictions in this state, Massachusetts and Florida, and may be wanted on other charges. An investigation is being continued.

Washington, Oct. 10 (AP)—Mobilization Director Arthur S. Flemming is standing on his statement that an atomic attack on the United States is possible at present.

President Eisenhower said at his news conference Wednesday that the Soviets have the capability of atomic attack on the United States and that the capability will increase with the passage of time.

Cab Driver Tells About Hall's Ride

Thought Alleged Slayer in Kidnap Case Was Bank Robber Before He Tipped Police

St. Louis, Oct. 10 (AP)—"I first thought I had a 'good-time Charley,' then I knew I had something worse," the cab driver who tipped police to Carl Austin Hall, said.

John Hager, 39, spent nearly two days driving for and drinking with the man charged with the kidnap-slaying of 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease of Kansas City.

When Hager did realize the man, known only to him as Steve, was "hot," he thought he had a bank robber. He then tipped off Police Lt. Louis Shoulters who arrested Hall Tuesday night.

Hager's identity was a closely guarded secret until last night. After Hager was questioned extensively by FBI agents, Globe-Democrat reporter Ted Schafers located and interviewed him.

Will Get Rewards
Hager will get $1,500 in rewards, a local official of the AFL Teamsters Union announced. Hager, a driver for the Ace Cab Co., will get $500 from his firm, $500 from his Teamsters' Local 405, and another $500 from Dave Beck, international president of the union.

The cab driver told of meeting Hall in front of a downtown hotel, getting him a date, carrying two heavy suitcases, in which about half of the $600,000 Greenlease ransom money was found, at least five times, and finally getting scared because of Hall's actions.

Monday afternoon "another cab driver drove up and asked me if I could get his fare a girl," Hager related. "The fare was a well-dressed man who appeared to have been drinking. He looked like a 'good-time Charley' to me."

"The fare said his name was Steve. I told him I knew a friend who might be able to get him a date."

"I got two metal suitcases out of the trunk of the other cab and put them in the trunk of my cab. I had a hard time getting both suitcases in the trunk and suggested I put one up front. But Steve said 'no.'"

Gave $18 Tip
"We drove out to Sandy O'Day's house (she now is held in Kansas City as a material witness), picked up Sandy, went to a bar and had some drinks for which Steve paid with a $20 bill. He shoved the change, $18, across the table to me and said, 'You take this.' I said to myself, 'What a fare I've got here.'"

Hager, an ex-convict, said he became suspicious that Hall might be a policeman. When he asked Hall about it Hall told him:

"John, if you knew the truth, you'd really get a kick out of it."

Hager said he later got Hall a place to stay at a motor court, bought him shaving equipment (Continued on Page 5, Col. 5)

U.S. Troops Stand by On Attack

Ready to Stall Threats of South Koreans to Rush Indian Soldiers Guarding POWs

Panmunjom, Oct. 10 (AP)—American "alert troops" with tanks and flamethrowers took up positions pointing south today in an ominous warning against South Korean threats to attack Indian soldiers guarding war prisoners in the neutral zone.

The show of strength followed an Indian appeal for American aid in curbing any South Korean drive toward the compounds housing 2,600 anti-Communist North Korean and Chinese POWs.

The U. S. State Department only Friday assured India it would take precautions to head off possible South Korean interference.

The State Department also disclosed it had—prior to the Indian appeal—warned South Korea that the UN command would forcibly resist any attempt to free the POWs or attack Indian troops.

Threaten Force
South Korea, which considers India pro-Communist, has repeatedly threatened to drive the Indians from Korea—by force, if necessary.

The situation tightened after the Indians killed three POWs and wounded 10 recently in putting down two attempted escapes by the prisoners.

Meanwhile, allied engineers worked speedily constructing facilities near Panmunjom where the Communists will interview the North Korean and Chinese POWs who refuse to go home.

The camp is scheduled for completion Monday morning and it is possible that the explanations designed to persuade POWs to accept repatriation will get under way at that time.

The explanations have been delayed since Sept. 28, mainly because of a snarl over facilities. Both the UN command and Reds turned down centers built by the other and demanded detailed changes.

Chinese Celebrate
The 14,700 Chinese POWs staged celebrations Saturday morning in observance of the Nationalist Chinese Independence day.

The captives paraded around the compound, singing Nationalist songs and waving flags.

At the same time, four North Korean prisoners who changed their minds and asked to be repatriated were turned over to the Communists.

It raised to 121 the number of North Koreans and Chinese handed back to the Reds from the neutral zone camps.

Explosions Kill Four
Omaha, Oct. 10 (AP)—An ammunition truck rammed a passenger car on a busy 4-lane highway 10 miles west of here last night and then let go with a series of explosions showering fragments of artillery shells over a wide area. Three persons were killed and two injured. A fourth death was attributed indirectly to the collision and fire. The co-owner of a nearby inn died of a heart attack. The series of explosions—one spectator counted 73—periled hundreds of persons attracted to the scene by the blaze, as shell fragments showered down. Several of the buildings at Boys Town, widely known home for boys, were struck by fragments of flying metal.

City Hall Offices To Observe Holiday

Polls Close 10 Tonight Final Time

Figures Are Behind All Over State: Kingston Table Gives Friday Total as 2,925

Registration figures in Kingston were still running well behind those of previous years today—the last opportunity for voters to sign up for the November 3 election.

Similar light registration was also reported in other New York cities, according to the Associated Press.

Total registration in the city yesterday was 2,925, bringing the total for the first three days of registration to 7,256. Last year at the end of three days the figure was 11,461—a presidential year, however.

The polls will be open in the city until 10 p. m. today, the last chance for Kingston voters to register.

Registration Record
Total registration in recent years: 1952—15,948; 1951—14,202; 1950—13,961, and 1949—15,057.

According to the AP, at the end of its fifth day New York, where a hot mayoral campaign is in progress, yesterday recorded a total of 1,562,342 voters. This was nearly 200,000 voters less than were registered in the corresponding period in 1949, the last time a mayoral election was held.

Big Slip Seen
It appeared likely the final count tonight would fall well below the 2½ million predicted by the board of elections.

Update, at the end of the third and fourth registration days, all cities for which figures were available showed a lag in registrations.

In Buffalo, 46,391 turned out to bring the three-day total to 127,499, compared with 155,346 for the corresponding period of 1949.

Albany reported a three-day figure of 49,339 or 4,169 less than the comparable 1949 total of 53,508.

Rochester's count for the three days was 64,709, as compared with 76,982 for the similar 1951 period.

Registration hours in New York city and Westchester county today were 7 a. m. to 10 p. m.

Elsewhere in cities and villages of 5,000 population or more, the final session was scheduled to run from 7 a. m. to 10 p. m.

Today also was the last of two days for first voters in communities of less than 5,000 population, where personal registration is not required, to sign up. The hours—1 p. m. to 10 p. m.

Ward Totals
The following registration figures were recorded yesterday in Kingston:

1st Ward, 1st Dist.	138

New York, Oct. 10 (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Williams, owners of the Williams Lake Hotel in Rosendale, were named defendants in a $31,500 suit filed in Federal Court here today by two guests injured in the fire which destroyed the hotel and adjoining lodge last July.

Records Are Seized At Raceway Dinner

Earlier Testimony Reveals Track Workers Forced to Buy Tickets

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—A testimonial dinner last night to a Roosevelt Raceway official ended early today with a raid by Nassau county detectives who seized all records and guest lists of the affair.

The raiders were led by Deputy Chief Inspector James Farrell. The guests were not disturbed by the police party.

Dinner for Johnson
They walked in on a testimonial dinner to Walter P. Johnson, pari-mutuel manager at Roosevelt Raceway, given him by William De Koning, Sr., Long Island AFL labor leader.

De Koning has been indicted on conspiracy and extortion charges growing out of probes of the harness racing track on Long Island. All of the state's seven harness tracks currently are under investigation.

Earlier testimony by workers at the Roosevelt track, in Nassau county, indicated that employees have been forced to attend "dinners" and "clam-bakes" at high prices amounting to kick-backs of their salaries.

Last night's dinner apparently was arranged before the current probe began. Tickets for two persons cost $15. There were several hundred persons in attendance at the affair, held at a labor hall in Uniondale, Long Island.

Orders From DA
A spokesman for Nassau District Attorney Frank Gulotta said the seizure of the party records had been made on the DA's orders. There was no immediate comment from Gulotta.

In yesterday's developments in the racetrack situation the appointment of Bruce Bromley as head of a special commission to probe harness racing became an issue in the New York city mayoral campaign.

Bromley, former judge of the State Court of Appeals, resigned as campaign manager for Harold Reigelman, Republican candidate for mayor, after becoming chairman of the three-man commission.

In answer to Democratic predictions of a "whitewash," Bromley said yesterday:

"You can be sure this is not going to be a whitewash. Tell the Democrats they will be sadly mistaken."

Straus Talks
Meanwhile, Nathan Straus, chairman of a volunteers organization supporting the Democratic mayoral candidacy of Manhattan Borough President Robert F. Wagner, Jr., charged that Bromley's appointment "looks like an attempt not to clean up but to sweep the dirt under the rug."

Straus also said in a statement: (Continued on Page 5, Col. 5)

According to Bartroff, the wheels struck a 1952 sedan, owned by James McElrath of 14 Brown avenue. The car was parked at the time in front of 251 East Chester street. The complete rear end of the car was damaged, Bartroff said.

Hager will get $1,500 in rewards, a local official of the AFL Teamsters Union announced. Hager, a driver for the Ace Cab Co., will get $500 from his firm, $500 from his Teamsters' Local 405, and another $500 from Dave Beck, international president of the union.

The cab driver told of meeting Hall in front of a downtown hotel, getting him a date, carrying two heavy suitcases, in which about half of the $600,000 Greenlease ransom money was found, at least five times, and finally getting scared because of Hall's actions.

Monday afternoon "another cab driver drove up and asked me if I could get his fare a girl," Hager related. "The fare was a well-dressed man who appeared to have been drinking. He looked like a 'good-time Charley' to me."

"The fare said his name was Steve. I told him I knew a friend who might be able to get him a date."

"I got two metal suitcases out of the trunk of the other cab and put them in the trunk of my cab. I had a hard time getting both suitcases in the trunk and suggested I put one up front. But Steve said 'no.'"

Gave $18 Tip
"We drove out to Sandy O'Day's house (she now is held in Kansas City as a material witness), picked up Sandy, went to a bar and had some drinks for which Steve paid with a $20 bill. He showed the change, $18, across the table to me and said, 'You take this.' I said to myself, 'What a fare I've got here.'"

Hager, an ex-convict, said he became suspicious that Hall might be a policeman. When he asked Hall about it Hall told him: "John, if you knew the truth, you'd really get a kick out of it."

Hager said he later got Hall a place to stay at a motor court, bought him shaving equipment

U.S. Troops Stand by On Attack

Ready to Stall Threats of South Koreans to Rush Indian Soldiers Guarding POWs

Panmunjom, Oct. 10 (AP)—American "alert troops" with tanks and flamethrowers took up positions pointing south today in an ominous warning against South Korean threats to attack Indian soldiers guarding war prisoners in the neutral zone.

The show of strength followed an Indian appeal for American aid in curbing any South Korean drive toward the compounds housing 2,600 anti-Communist North Korean and Chinese POWs.

The U. S. State Department only Friday assured India it would take precautions to head off possible South Korean interference.

The State Department also disclosed it had—prior to the Indian appeal—warned South Korea that the UN command would forcibly resist any attempt to free the POWs or attack Indian troops.

Threaten Force
South Korea, which considers India pro-Communist, has repeatedly threatened to drive the Indians from Korea—by force, if necessary.

The situation tightened after the Indians killed three POWs and wounded 10 recently in putting down two attempted escapes by the prisoners.

Meanwhile, allied engineers worked speedily constructing facilities near Panmunjom where the Communists will interview the North Korean and Chinese POWs who refuse to go home.

The camp is scheduled for completion Monday morning and it is possible that the explanations designed to persuade POWs to accept repatriation will get under way at that time.

The explanations have been delayed since Sept. 26, mainly because of a snarl over facilities. Both the UN command and Reds turned down centers built by the other and demanded detailed changes.

Chinese Celebrate
The 14,700 Chinese POWs staged celebrations Saturday morning in observance of the Nationalist Chinese Independence day.

The captives paraded around their compounds, singing Nationalist songs and waving flags. At the same time, four North Korean prisoners who changed their minds and asked to be repatriated were turned over to the Communists.

It raised to 121 the number of North Koreans and Chinese handed back to the Reds from the neutral zone camps.

Explosions Kill Four
Omaha, Oct. 10 (AP)—An ammunition truck rammed a passenger car on a busy 4-lane highway 10 miles west of here last night and then let go with a series of explosions shattering fragments of artillery shells over a wide area. Three persons were killed and two injured. A fourth death was attributed indirectly to the collision and fire. The co-owner of a nearby inn died of a heart attack. The series of explosions—one spectator counted 73—impelled hundreds of persons attracted to the scene by the blaze, as shell fragments showered down. Several of the buildings at Boys Town, widely known home for boys, were struck by fragments of flying metal.

City Hall Offices To Observe Holiday

Polls Close 10 Tonight Final Time

Figures Are Behind All Over State; Kingston Table Gives Friday Total as 2,925

Registration figures in Kingston were still running well behind those of previous years today—the last opportunity for voters to sign up for the November 3 election.

Similar light registration was also reported in other New York cities, according to the Associated Press.

Total registration in the city yesterday was 2,925, bringing the total for the first three days of registration to 7,256. Last year, at the end of three days the figure was 11,461—a presidential year, however.

The polls will be open in the city until 10 p. m. today, the last chance for Kingston voters to register.

Registration Record
Total registration in recent years: 1952—15,948; 1951—14,202; 1950—13,991, and 1949—15,057.

According to the AP, at the end of its fifth day New York, where a hot mayoral campaign is in progress, yesterday recorded a total of 1,562,342 voters. This was nearly 200,000 voters less than were registered in the corresponding period in 1949, the last time a mayoral election was held.

Big Slip Seen
It appeared likely the final count tonight would fall well below the 2½ million predicted by the board of elections.

Update, at the end of the third and four registration days, all cities for which figures were available showed a lag in registrations.

In Buffalo, 46,391 turned out to bring the three-day total to 127,499, compared with 155,346 for the corresponding period of 1949.

Albany reported a three-day figure of 49,339 or 4,169 less than the comparable 1949 total of 53,508.

Rochester's count for the three days was 64,709, as compared with 76,982 for the similar 1951 period.

Registration hours in New York city and Westchester county today were 7 a. m. to 10 p. m.

Elsewhere in cities and villages of 5,000 population or more, the final session was scheduled to run from 7 a. m. to 10 p. m.

Today also was the last of two days for first voters in communities of less than 5,000 population, where personal registration is not required, to sign up. The hours—1 p. m. to 10 p. m.

Williams Is Sued For $31,500 in Fire

New York, Oct. 10 (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Williams, owners of the Williams Lake Hotel in Rosendale, were named defendants in a $31,500 suit filed in Federal Court here today by two guests injured in the fire which destroyed the hotel and adjoining lodge last July.

The plaintiffs, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Westlund, of Teaneck, N. J., are asking a total of $30,000 for personal injuries, and over $1,500 for other costs. The defendants have 20 days in which to file an answer.

The fire, which broke out early in the morning of July 28, resulted in the death of four, and injuries to 11.

Your Life and Mine

by CLYDE HERBERT SNELL

IMPS AND PIXIES

In mid-August we paid a brief visit to the haunts of my childhood in southwestern Michigan. How the place has changed. Strangers are now on most of the farms where well-known neighbors used to dwell. The whole landscape looked different. Some of the trees I used to think were whoopers are still standing and I was amazed to discover that they are not out of the ordinary in size at all. The hills that used to be enormous have shrunk to trifling grades. Even the old swimming hole—which we revisited to let the young eyes in our family see where "Pa" learned to swim—had somehow bartered off both its size and its charm to become nothing more than a little unalluring mud hole beside a dusty country road.

While I was gazing into the grass infested water of the old swimming hole a thought struck me like a bolt out of the blue. It wasn't just the place that had changed. I too had changed. I was looking at these spots through different eyes from those which I used when I was growing up. It was the change in the community and the personnel of the community does shift, as the years pass, from the intimate to the strange for a person who moves away to a different spot on God's green earth. But we change too. We trade in our childish eyes for mature eyes. The years lay that necessity upon us and there is nothing we can do about it.

Charles Dickens has written about an experience comparable to mine. He went back to Rochester where he grew up. He thought Rochester High Street was a wide street and he found it only a lane. The public clock in the street he imagined to be "the finest clock in the world," and it turned out to be "as moon-faced and feeble a clock as a man's eyes ever saw." Then he realized that he had changed. "Who was I," he asks, "that I should quarrel with the town I having changed to me, when I myself had come back so changed to it?"

F. W. Boreham blames the imps and the pixies for perpetrating all of this jarring disillusionment. When we go back to Dixie, he points out, we do not go back to the real Dixie—but to one our fancies have created. We forget, he says, that the imps and pixies are always at work taking down our real Dixies and building up the Dixies that never-were and never-will be.

Unstable Personality Is Alcoholic's Chief Trouble

Because alcoholism is officially recognized as the nation's fourth major public health problem, and since its effects on the victims, families, and communities are so widespread and serious, The Freeman presents an educational series on this disrupting affliction as a community public health service. This is the second article in the series to be run weekly. This series is not a temperance crusade, nor is it an attempt to invade anyone's private life; it is simply a factual, unbiased attempt to present the truth as known on this grave medical and social problem which merits the attention and understanding of everyone—non-drinkers as well as drinkers.

Prevention begins with understanding. Perhaps you can help someone in need of help.

By AN ALCOHOLIC

If anyone can honestly say that drinking is a distinct pleasure in his or her life, with no resulting interference in the performance of routine duties, then there is little need for concern about alcoholic tendencies.

However, it is well to bear in mind that the ability to control alcohol moderately and wisely to always retain that control. Since alcoholism is a progressive affliction, drinkers must be alert to the appearance of signs which would indicate growing loss of control.

Personality is said to be the sum total of an individual's characteristics. It is what makes one person different from another. It is that which attracts others' respect and affection or repels them. What we accomplish in life largely depends on the quality of our personalities and our ability to successfully cope with the storms and upsets which attack us throughout life.

Alcohol usually plays havoc with people suffering from emotional upsets. For emotionally unstable people, alcohol is most apt to have serious effects on the personality. Since it is generally agreed that emotional conflicts play an important part in the development of alcoholism, it would seem to follow that emotionally unstable people would be poor prospects to handle alcohol moderately. Furthermore, such people are likely to find in alcohol a counterfeit solution to their problem of trying to deal with reality.

Some of the more common emotional disorders which contribute to alcoholism and usually stem from childhood rearing are:

1. Childhood. When one can't get what he wants when he wants it, there is an emotional explosion. The person lashes out in a rage at everyone and anything, regardless of consequences.
2. Feeling of inferiority—that one is not liked or wanted.
3. Feelings of guilt and fear in the home during childhood. Harsh parents play a dominant part in creating these unhealthy feelings.
4. Feelings of superiority growing out of a pampered childhood—all getting and no giving. Apt to become an adult who feels the world owes him or her a living and then some.
5. Dependancy—feeling that life has no meaning.

People who grow up suffering from any of the aforementioned emotional disorders are termed maladjusted—failure to reach a satisfactory adjustment between one's desires and one's conditions in life. Now, anything which tends to ease the pain and suffering resulting from this conflict, even though temporary, will be most welcome. Alcohol offers this temporary relief, but with the ever-present danger of making bad conditions worse. As the problems and the conflicts increase, the drinker might find himself or herself a greater need of more and more alcohol. The vicious circle sets in, and the compulsion to drink takes over.

Ordinarily, the drinker who can't predict with certainty what his behavior is going to be after having had one drink is a problem drinker. If one drink leads to countless more and one becomes harmful to self and others, such a person should stop drinking completely. If he can't stop, he is an alcoholic.

The alcoholic finds because he must if he is to drink bearing the habitual drinker, and the excessive drinker, that the alcoholic in them they drink because they want to and not because they have to. They do not suffer from any compulsion to drink.

The average alcoholic possesses what may be called a particularly sensitive nervous system, and one especially sensitive to alcohol in any form or quantity. He is peculiarly inclined to panic and fear, and affected with a crippling inability to make decisions when faced with the simplest kind of problems. In such a state of mind, physical tensions are produced which in turn cause sleeplessness, worry, lack of appetite, and disordered thinking. If the conflict continues long enough, the bottle is sought for relief.

The chronic alcoholic is one who suffers from physical and/or mental disorders in connection with the uncontrolled drinking. One type of chronic alcoholic, known as the primary type, is the person who was maladjusted before he ever used alcohol. He or she is the one who emerged from a faulty childhood development. Their basic maladjustments are aggravated through use of alcohol over an indefinite period of time, and their progress is generally from bad to worse.

The secondary chronic alcoholic appeared originally as a fairly well adjusted person. He was not a neurotic at the outset of his drinking career. Over a period of relatively controlled drinking, this person begins to become involved in difficulties which tax his personality assets and thereby hinders solution of the problem facing him. He now drinks to appease his troubles. He drinks to attain a peace of mind he formerly enjoyed without the aid of alcohol. It isn't long before this person is a victim of maladjustment, so he drinks to escape the consequences of his growing unmanageable life. In the last stages, this person appears very much like the primary type, acquiring all of the personality disorders characteristic of the latter before he ever commenced drinking.

Since the judgment of a problem drinker is definitely impaired, it would be foolhardy to expect that he or she would be the best judge to determine whether or not control over alcohol had been lost. The family or the physician can best determine this on the basis of drinking behavior. When it is apparent that control is waning, action should be the order of the moment, regardless of the attitude of the victim.

15 Cars in Crash

Elizabeth, N. J., Oct. 10 (AP)—Fifteen cars smashed end-to-end late last night injuring 17 persons in another crash on the smogbound portion of the New Jersey Turnpike here. Later, fog rolled in over the superhighway and it was closed early today from Hightstown to its northern end, a distance of about 50 miles. Last night's crash occurred near the Newark border where smoke from garbage dump fires blows across the highway. State police said several cars stopped on the highway and were rammed by others coming up from in the northbound lane. Four cars caught fire and three of them were completely destroyed by the flames.

No Disclosures

Spring Valley, Oct. 9 (AP)—A top union official met with representatives of Rockland Coaches Inc., yesterday for negotiations in connection with a possible strike by 175 bus drivers serving commuters between northern New Jersey, New York and the northern terminal here. Results of the talks between S. F. Conrow, deputy president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen (Ind.), and coach officials were not disclosed.

Up to Colleges

Washington, Oct. 9 (AP)—A committee of educators today drafted a resolution calling on the nation's colleges to do their own hunting for subversives among faculty members. The resolution, to be submitted later in the day to the 36th annual convention of the American Council on Education (ACE), would urge congressional investigating committees to keep hands off the colleges.

The Mature Parent

Most Retarded Children Can Learn by Home-School Plan

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

This column, last of a series on the work of the National Association for Mentally Retarded Children, is my Q. and A. with the psychiatrist in charge of one of its flourishing branches.

Q.—Are all mentally retarded children able to respond to the kind of home-school educational program you have here?

A.—No. I think that the majority are, though. Institutional care is necessary for the minority who have severe brain injury. However, we realize that some of our alumni may need it, too, in later life when their homes are no longer available.

Q.—What are the advantages of your program?

A.—A parent is in on the discovery and development of his child's capacities. He learns to accept the youngster's limitations. That means a chance at self-respect for the youngster. As the parent is released from guilt for the limitations, the child loses his own fear of them. You realize that the guilt is baseless, don't you? Mental retardation is accidental. It could happen to your child or mine. It is not our fault.

Q.—Why don't more parents seek the National Association's help in organizing more of these local home-school chapters?

A.—Some don't know about it. Some wouldn't want to. A mentally handicapped child is a temptation to certain personalities. For example, a woman deserted by a husband may cling to her son's helplessness because serving it makes her feel valuable. A person who thinks life's abused him may cling to it to justify his feeling that he's the butt of gossip or ridicule. Or an unhappily married couple will use the child to reproach each other.

I've known a mother who actually resented her daughter's improvement here because it meant she'd have to locate a new reason to feel sorry for herself. On the other hand, the mother you just met seemed kind of happy over her child's improvement.

Q.—She did. Would you say then that the mentally retarded child tests the quality of his parent's faith in himself?

A.—That—and his humility. Despair is usually the first reaction. It's an absolute emotion demanding an absolute answer. You want someone to pass a miracle. Here, we don't aim so high. Our parents are workers, not perfectionists. They're people who've outgrown demands for absolute answers and are ready to work for something, instead of putting up with nothing or shopping around for everything.

Q.—I'm specially glad to pass this information on because we can't all afford expensive private institutions. I'm all for the idea of getting understanding of the child while we get self-understanding at the same time. It would dispose of all kinds of destructive notions like the superstition that our handicapped child shows up the "bad blood" in our family. I suppose the National Association needs money?

A.—You suppose right. Could you mention it? Its address is 304 Paris avenue, S.E., Grand Rapids, Mich.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Mrs. Marquardt Heads Local Garden Club

Woodstock, Oct. 8—The Garden Club of Woodstock met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Behrens. Mrs. Ed Marquardt was elected president; Miss Therese Kessel, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Frank Lynch head of the program committee; and Mrs. Roland d'Albis chairman of the project committee. Mrs. Gilbert Schneider will continue as publicity chairman.

As most garden clubs are represented by some chosen flower, the Garden Club has adopted mountain laurel as its symbol.

Mrs. Charles Schab gave a short talk on spring bulb planting and some "chit-chat" on her Parisian trip was given by the retiring president Mrs. Roland d'Albis.

Although this was the closing formal meeting, the club to resume in March, an informal meeting will be held at the home of Miss Therese Kessel on November 18 at 2 p. m. to discuss and plan scrapbook collections on flower arrangements and Christmas decorations.

Guild Holds Meeting, Elects New Trustees

Woodstock, Oct. 8—On September 28 the Woodstock Guild of Craftsman, Inc. held its annual meeting with Konrad Cramer, president, presiding. Reports by all committee chairmen were read and Cramer expressed appreciation for the services given by Martin Comeau and Russell Cook and for the gift of the Guild property. Miss Wardwell, chairman of the nominating committee, offered the following slate of trustees, all of whom were unanimously elected: Marion Chambers, Martin Comeau, Russell Cook, Konrad Cramer, Isabel Doughty, Alice Henderson, John Pike, Blanche Rosett, Katherine Wangler, Alice Wardwell. Cramer spoke briefly on suggested new projects for the Guild—lectures with slides and exhibits of prints, drawings, watercolors and oil paintings to be held in the Guild basement gallery.

On the evening of October 1 a surprise party was given to Mrs. Blanche Rosett by the Guild trustees and officers as a token of their appreciation of the gift of the Guild property by Mrs. Rosett. The dinner was prepared and served by some of the officers of the Guild.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Don't Be Afraid
To Use Double

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

For many years I have been telling experienced bridge players that they don't double often enough. I consider this subject so important that I've devoted several pages to it in my new book "What's New in Bridge," which will appear next January.

All of the really great players agree with me on this point, of course. Today's hand shows Milton Q. Ellenby, one of the young Chicago players who won the national team championship this year, making the kind of double that I describe in my book.

This is the kind of penalty double that most players miss. The opponents bid without any real assurance to a contract that they will obviously need reasonable luck to make. You double when you know that they will run into bad luck instead of the good luck that they need.

Ellenby was East when today's hand was played in the national championships in St. Louis last August. He knew that both black suits would break badly. It was clear that the hearts were stacked badly from the fact that North couldn't raise and South couldn't rebid the suit.

And declarer couldn't get very far in diamonds. In other words,

NORTH (D) 10
 ♠ Q J 7 4
 ♥ A 5
 ♦ Q 6 5
 ♣ A K 8 4

WEST ♠ K 6
 ♥ K J 10 9 6
 ♦ 9 7 3 2
 ♣ 9 5

EAST ♠ A 10 8 3

 ♦ J 10 8 4
 ♣ Q J 10 6

SOUTH ♠ 9 5 2
 ♥ Q 8 7 3 2
 ♦ A K
 ♣ 7 3 2

Neither side vul.

North East South West
 1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ Pass
 2 N.T. Pass 3 N.T. Pass
 Pass Double (!) Pass Pass
 Opening lead—♠ 9

Ellenby knew that all the suits would break badly for declarer—so he doubled.

West opened the nine of clubs, holding the trick. He continued with the five of clubs, and dummy won with the king. Declarer now decided that East had good hearts for his double, so he led the five of hearts from dummy.

East naturally played his low heart, and South put up the queen. West was happy to win with the king of hearts—so happy that he led a low heart right back to take out dummy's ace.

South was now as dead as a doornail. West was bound to get in with the king of spades to cash three more heart tricks, and South was able to get only six tricks. The penalty for a three-trick set was 500 points. He'd have gotten away with a loss of only 150 points if East had tamely passed instead of doubling the final contract.

Game Brings Death

Swedesboro, N. J., Oct. 10 (AP)—A children's game of cowboys and Indians claimed the life of 3-year-old Lawrence Monahan—at first thought to have been killed by a prowler. County Detective George Small said the boy was shot through the heart Thursday night while his brother and sister scuffled for a 16-gauge shotgun. The officer said 6-year-old Robert and the sister, 10-year-old Marie were so terrified when Lawrence was killed they carried the body to the back yard of their home here and made up the prowler story. After questioning the brother and sister finally reconstructed the events leading to the death of their younger brother.

The MINNESOTA

Beauty in Kitchen

Many of the new kitchen cabinets and counters are coming in a natural wood finish. They look well against walls painted a velvety gray-green.

Veneer From Stumps

Much of the most attractive hardwood veneer is cut from tree stumps in which the wood fibers have been compressed into wavy, crinkled, complex designs.

Easy to Clean

Hardwood plywood flush doors are easy to keep clean because they don't have dust-collecting moldings. Each side of a flush door is a smooth expanse of wood.

Blunt Screwdriver Best

Sharp edges are fine for chisels but not for screw drivers. When sharpening a screw driver, be sure to grind the blade so that the edge is blunt rather than tapered.

Fatal to Tree

Removing a ring of bark from a tree trunk will kill a tree because it interrupts the flow of digested materials downward to the roots. The roots then die of starvation.

Don't Waste Heat

Be sure the fireplace damper is closed when the fireplace is not in use. Otherwise warm air will escape from the house through the chimney.

Designed for Two-Level Lot

Rooms ..... Six
Bedrooms ..... Three
Bathrooms ..... One
Closets ..... Nine
Cubage:
 House ..... 29,500 ft.
 Garage ..... 4,000 ft.
 Dimensions ..... 59' x 39'

Featuring an unusually attractive exterior, "The Minnesota," offered today by the Home of the Week Plan Service, is specifically designed to be built on a sloping lot. This modern home also has a special appeal for prospective home owners with growing families, because "The Minnesota" contains a second story which can be finished at your convenience.

With overall dimensions of 59' x 39', "The Minnesota" has a cubage of 29,500 feet. Cubage of the garage is 4,000 feet. At least a 90 foot lot would be required to build the house plus the attached garage.

On the upper level at the front of the house is the unusually spacious living room. Measuring 20' x 18', the living room boasts a wealth of windows which make this room unusually bright and cheerful; they make it ideally suitable for a gathering place for friends and family. Adding to this impression of cheerful friendliness and also providing decorative interest for the room is the large fireplace centered in the front wall.

Since the front door opens directly into the central hallway it's not necessary to go through the living room to get from one room in the house to another. Stairs also lead from this hallway to the basement and to the second story of "The Minnesota." And, stairs also lead from this hallway to the rear section of the house built on the lower level of the lot.

The den or guest room which is so designed that it may be used as a library-den, can serve as a regular bedroom until such time as you have the second story of "The Minnesota" completed. Since the room contains two closets, storage will present no problem, whatever the use to which the room is put.

Thoroughly modern and carefully planned, the kitchen is comfortably large; it contains a good sized breakfast nook in addition to an abundance of storage cupboards and cabinets as well as counter space.

Upstairs, space is provided for two bedrooms and an all-modern bath. Both bedrooms enjoy good lighting and cross ventilation. make the most of these opportunities in each of the rooms.

No space is provided in the house proper for the laundry. Therefore your laundry equipment should be placed in the basement, under either the kitchen or the lavatory. The heating plant should be installed under the living room.

As with all two level houses "The Minnesota" offers unusual opportunities to achieve unusual decorative effects both inside and out. The clever homemaker will find there is ample closet storage space.

15 Cars in Crash

Elizabeth, N. J., Oct. 10 (AP)—Fifteen cars smashed end-to-end late last night injuring 17 persons in another crash on the smogbound portion of the New Jersey Turnpike here. Later, fog rolled in over the superhighway and it was closed early today from Hightstown to its northern end, a distance of about 50 miles. Last night's crash occurred near the Newark border where smoke from garbage dump fires blows across the highway. State police said several cars stopped on the highway and were rammed by others coming up from in the northbound lane. Four cars caught fire and three of them were completely destroyed by the flames.

No Disclosures

Spring Valley, Oct. 9 (AP)—A top union official met with representatives of Rockland Coaches Inc., yesterday for negotiations in connection with a possible strike by 175 bus drivers serving commuters between northern New Jersey, New York and the northern terminal here. Results of the talks between S. F. Conrow, deputy president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen (Ind.), and coach officials were not disclosed.

Up to Colleges

Washington, Oct. 9 (AP)—A committee of educators today drafted a resolution calling on the nation's colleges to do their own hunting for subversives among faculty members. The resolution, to be submitted later in the day to the 36th annual convention of the American Council on Education (ACE), would urge congressional investigating committees to keep hands off the colleges.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Don't Be Afraid
To Use Double

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

For many years I have been telling experienced bridge players that they don't double often enough. I consider this subject so important that I've devoted several pages to it in my new book "What's New in Bridge," which will appear next January. All of the really great players agree with me on this point, of course. Today's hand shows Young Q. Ellenby, one of the million Chicago players who won the national team championship this year, making the kind of double that I describe in my book.

This is the kind of penalty double that most players miss. The opponents bid without any real assurance to a contract that they will obviously need reasonable luck to make. You double when you know that they will run into bad luck instead of the good luck that they need.

Ellenby was East when today's hand was played in the national championships in St. Louis last August. He knew that both black suits would break badly. It was clear that the hearts were stacked badly from the fact that North couldn't raise and South couldn't rebid the suit.

And declarer couldn't get very far in diamonds. In other words,

NORTH (D) 10

Ellenby knew that all the suits would break badly for declarer—so he doubled.

West opened the nine of clubs, holding the trick. He continued with the five of clubs, and dummy won with the king. Declarer now decided that East had good hearts for his double, so he led the five of hearts from dummy. East naturally played his low heart, and South put up the queen. West was happy to win with the king of hearts—so happy that he led a low heart right back to take out dummy's ace.

South was now as dead as a doornail. West was bound to get in with the king of spades to cash three more heart tricks, and South was able to get only six tricks. The penalty for a three-trick set was 500 points. He'd have gotten away with a loss of only 150 points if East had tamely passed instead of doubling the final contract.

Game Brings Death

Swedesboro, N. J., Oct. 10 (AP)—A children's game of cowboys and Indians claimed the life of 3-year-old Lawrence Monahan—first thought to have been killed by a prowler. County Detective George Small said the boy was shot through the heart Thursday night while his brother and sister scuffled for a 16-gauge shotgun. The officer said 6-year-old Robert and the sister, 10-year-old Marie were so terrified when Lawrence was killed they carried the body to the back yard of their home and made up the prowler story. After questioning the brother and sister finally reconstructed the events leading to the death of their younger brother.

The MINNESOTA

Beauty in Kitchen

Many of the new kitchen cabinets and counters are coming in a natural wood finish. They look well against walls painted a velvety gray-green.

Veneer From Stumps

Much of the most attractive hardwood veneer is cut from tree stumps in which the wood fibers have been compressed into wavy, crinkled, complex designs.

Easy to Clean

Hardwood plywood flush doors are easy to keep clean because they don't have dust-collecting moldings. Each side of a flush door is a smooth expanse of wood.

Blunt Screwdriver Best

Sharp edges are fine for chisels but not for screw drivers. When sharpening a screw driver, be sure to grind the blade so that the edge is blunt rather than tapered.

Fatal to Tree

Removing a ring of bark from a tree trunk will kill a tree because it interrupts the flow of digested materials downward to the roots. The roots then die of starvation.

Don't Waste Heat

Be sure the fireplace damper is closed when the fireplace is not in use. Otherwise warm air will escape from the house through the chimney.

Designed for Two-Level Lot

Rooms ..... Six
Bedrooms ..... Three
Bathrooms ..... Nine
Cubage: ..... 29,500 ft.
House ..... 4,000 ft.
Garage ..... 59' x 39'

Featuring an unusually attractive exterior, "The Minnesota," offered today by the Home of the Week Plan Service, is specifically designed to be built on a sloping lot. This modern home also has a special appeal for prospective home owners with growing families, because "The Minnesota" contains a second story which can be finished at your convenience.

With overall dimensions of 59' x 39', "The Minnesota" has a cubage of 29,500 feet. Cubage of the garage is 4,000 feet. At least a 90 foot lot would be required to build the house plus the attached garage.

On the upper level at the front of the house is the unusually spacious living room. Measuring 20' x 18', the living room boasts a wealth of windows which make this room unusually bright and cheerful; they make it ideally suitable for a gathering place for friends and family. Adding to this impression of cheerful friendliness and also providing decorative interest for the room is the large fireplace centered in the front wall.

Since the front door opens directly into the central hallway it's not necessary to go through the living room to get from one room in the house to another. Stairs also lead from this hallway to the basement and to the second story of "The Minnesota." And, stairs also lead from this hallway to the rear section of the house built on the lower level of the lot.

The den or guest room which is so designed that it may be used as a library-den, can serve as a regular bedroom until such time as you have the second story of "The Minnesota" completed. Since the room contains two closets, storage will present no problem, whatever the use to which the room is put.

Thoroughly modern and carefully planned, the kitchen is comfortably large; it contains a good sized breakfast nook in addition to an abundance of storage cupboards and cabinets as well as counter space.

Upstairs, space is provided for two bedrooms and an all-modern bath. Both bedrooms enjoy good lighting and cross ventilation, make the most of these opportunities in each of the rooms.

No space is provided in the house proper for the laundry. Therefore, your laundry equipment should be placed in the basement, under either the kitchen or the laundry. The heating plant should be installed under the living room.

As with all two level houses "The Minnesota" offers unusual opportunities to achieve unusual decorative effects both inside and out. The clever homemaker will find there is ample closet storage space.

Bathroom Can Replace Extra Sleeping Area

A surplus bedroom, relic of many homes built when families were large, can be either a bane or a boon to today's householders.

Too often such a room becomes a catch-all for things that "can't go anywhere else." Then it's high time to appraise its possibilities and try to make something really useful of the space.

Nearly always a surplus bedroom can be turned into a second bathroom and thus made serviceable for all members of the family. Usually it has plenty of space—and space is one of the most needed features of the bath. Often it can be split in two, one part being made over into a bath and the second into a small photo dark-room, sewing room or hobby room.

Put Fixtures on One Wall

When you're converting an old bedroom into a bath, the fixtures usually can be placed on one wall, thus reducing plumbing costs. Either a shower stall or a tub can be installed, depending on family preferences. Wainscots and the floor should be finished with a waterproof material to prevent later damage to them. If fixtures in color are used, floor covering can readily be obtained to blend in shade with them.

Since older homes often lack storage space, it is a good plan to turn one wall of the newly-created bathroom into a storage wall. Seldom-used items such as luggage can be stored there, and every closet in the home can be cleaned out and little-used things shifted to the bathroom.

If the other bathroom in the home is small, the bath in the converted bedroom might well have a wash basin, or twin basins, built into a long counter with a clay tile top. The counter will serve as an excellent spot for making up, and its tile surface will not be damaged by spilled nail polish or perfume.

Heat-Wasting Homes

Surveys show 83 per cent of homes are improperly built. They lack weatherstripping, storm sash or adequate insulation. This costs $1,000,000,000 a year in fuel wastes.

Painting Knots

When painting knots in new wood, scrape and wipe off with turpentine any material exuded from them. Two, or better three, thin coats of orange shellac over these cleaned surfaces will protect subsequent coats of paint from discoloration.

THEY DREAM OF FREEDOM

On July 17th the people of East Germany revolted against their Communist masters. The crowds of Germans who demonstrated against the tyranny of the Russians and their puppets caused serious concern in Moscow. In order to pacify these dissatisfied people the Reds made concessions. A higher standard of living was promised to workers, production quotas were lowered and every effort was made to persuade the people that their complaints would receive attention from the government.

Every one of the promises has been broken. The standard of living is lower than before, police measures against those who speak against the government are more severe and the old system of high production norms has been introduced again. This is not piece work like ours, where a man may earn more if he produces more, and is free to produce as he sees fit. It is a system by which a man must work harder and ever harder, with the hurdle he must top rising ever higher before he is paid.

It probably means that the Communist government in East Germany considers itself stronger than it was early in the summer. Evidently the Reds believe that they can now subdue any revolt.

But the July riots happened suddenly and were not anticipated by either the German Communists or the Russians. Some day the people, driven to the point of desperation, will see an opportunity to strike again. The Reds may be able to survive such a blow but every attempt by the people to depose the government weakens its structure. The time may come when the brave men and women who demonstrated on July 17th will see the realization of their dream.

MAN OF FORGIVENESS

General William F. Dean, who was captured by the Communists in Korea through treachery on the part of two Koreans in whom he put trust, is a modest man. He insists that he is not a hero and refers to himself as "just a dog-faced soldier." But in his every utterance and act the fighting general gains stature.

The two men who betrayed General Dean for five dollars apiece were recently indicted by President Syngman Rhee's government. With such grave charges against them punishment would certainly be severe. General Dean, however, has intervened and asked the Korea President to grant the men clemency.

Because of the betrayal by the pair General Dean spent several years in Communist prison camps, subjected to endless questioning, loneliness and privation. Yet he finds it in his heart to forgive and befriend the men who sold him to his enemies. General Dean may be right in his appraisal of himself as "just a dog-faced soldier." In our book a "dog-faced soldier" can be a fine human being.

General Dean had before him, it may be well to remember, an illustrious example. It was that of the Man who, dying on the cross for the sins of humanity, prayed for his enemies: "Father, forgive them: they know not what they do."

FRIEND OF FREEDOM

Ernst Reuter, Mayor of West Berlin, was a staunch fighter for freedom. As a young man he spent a brief period of time as a Communist but it did not take him long to break with the Reds and he fought them the rest of his life. He hated tyranny in any form and was an outspoken critic of the Nazis. When Hitler came to power Reuter was sent to a concentration camp.

In 1948, when the Russians imposed a tight blockade on the city of Berlin, Reuter was a pillar of strength. He exhorted his people to hold out and he expressed faith in the ability of the democracies to break the blockade. The airlift fulfilled that confidence and Reuter's popularity with his people increased.

Last year he visited the United States and conferred with President Eisenhower. Wherever he appeared in the United States

IT COULD NOT BE OTHERWISE

There is a vast experience in our relations with Oriental peoples and out of it must come the conclusion that while they dislike being governed by Westerners, they hate being controlled by any other Oriental people. On June 29, I wrote in this column:

"... From my long experience with Asiatic peoples, I can only see massacres, assassinations and terror in the future. The Koreans will no more submit to the presence of Hindus in their country than they submitted to the Japanese and to Chinese Communists. They even opposed a Formosan participating army."

"The Americans were not resisted because the Koreans knew, as all Asiatics do, that Americans always go home. They are not empire-builders and they have no desire to occupy the lands of other peoples."

"That has never been the history of the Chinese or the Hindus, who have in their history occupied areas imperially, China held Korea in suzerainty for 300 years; Japan annexed Korea."

This judgment has unfortunately turned out to be correct. I cite my own words not to advertise my wisdom, small as it is, but to indicate that any student of the Orient should have known that sending Indian troops to Korea would lead to trouble. The British used Sikhs to police the Chinese in their International Settlements and when the Sikhs shot down Chinese workers in Shanghai on May 30, 1925, it produced an anti-British boycott that eventually led to revolution.

Indians are temperamentally unsuited to be neutral about anything. They are a volatile, excitable, almost a hysterical people, perhaps because they were so long in subjection. While they speak vehemently about their independence, they have known little of it throughout their history. Layer upon layer of conquerors has held the original Dravidian race in subjection. The caste system has been attributed by some historians to these numerous conquests, of which the British was the last. There is no period in Indian history, and this includes Pakistan, when these people have known freedom, as we understand the term.

As early as 3,000 years ago, the northern mountains began to pour population down into the valleys and rich plains of India, the Aryans coming first, probably from what is now Iran. It was out of this Aryan civilization that the caste system developed, their population being divided into Brahman, Kshatriya, Vaishya, and Sudra, the last being slaves because of their black color.

On account of these conquests and the varieties of ethnic groups, India recognizes 147 distinct languages under nine differentiated families of tongues.

The Persians under Darius I, the polyglot armies of Alexander the Great, the Syrians, the Egyptians, the Yuchi-Chih (probably Scythians), the Parthians, the White Huns (Hephthalites), the Arabs, Mongols, more recent Persians, Chinese, British, French, Portuguese either invaded or conquered some parts of India. (What is here said of India includes the new country, Pakistan.)

These, then, are numerous races and combinations of races with long histories of oppression and hatred and internal and external wars. They are insecure peoples who know nothing good about strangers and who have a long tradition of being either conquerors or of being conquered. The psychological effect of such a history upon the people is to fluctuate between cringing before power or becoming bullies when in power.

In the Korean episode, the Indians have displayed both characteristics: unable to be neutral because of their insecurity, they cringe before the Russian power that lies on their north and they bully the Koreans, who are too weak to fight back although they threaten to.

The Soviet Union touches India and Pakistan at many points. In the northwest, it borders on Afghanistan, which is an unknown quantity and through which the Russians could pass without much difficulty. The famous Khyber Pass that, when the British held it, protected India from the north is no longer defensible. Tibet and the Sinkiang province of China (Turkistan) run a long frontier with India, Pakistan, Nepal, Bhutan, and Assam, making the making of India and both parts of Pakistan ready for conquest.

On both sides of the border are kindred peoples, many of whom are Communists. Many of these races dislike the Indians and would welcome a revolution which would free them. Nehru lives in fear of this and therefore placates Russia. But does that justify bullying Korea?

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

HOME TREATMENT FOR DELIRIOUS PATIENT

When a patient begins to become overexcited and mistakes friends for enemies, he is approaching delirium and it is only natural for the family to feel that he needs more than home care and should be placed in a mental institution or enter a mental institution of his own free will.

While physicians, nurses and attendants know best how to handle or treat a delirious patient, this entering a mental institution may not be the best treatment for a patient in or approaching delirium.

In the "Journal of Nervous and Mental Diseases," Dr. Max Levin, New York City, states that some cases of toxic delirium start one or more days after the patient on the verge of delirium has been hospitalized; there may be a relation between the approaching delirium and being confined in a mental institution.

The essential or most important feature of delirium being disorientation (not knowing where you are), it follows that a person on the verge of delirium does not find it easy to grasp his environment and keep track of changes in it. When such a person is transferred from home to hospital, a burden is thereby imposed upon his highest mental centers, already under stress and this may act as the final cause of mental derangement.

The thought here, then, is that with a patient already under stress, placing him in strange surroundings is more apt to make him worse when removed from his home or familiar surroundings. "The disorientation of delirium has a special quality in that the patient tends to mistake the unfamiliar for the familiar. In the classic example, a delirious man in the hospital thinks he is at home and mistakes the doctors and nurses for relatives and friends. When a patient is taken from his familiar surroundings to a hospital, the burden of orienting and adapting himself to a new situation is imposed at the very moment he is least able to bear it."

What is the suggestion in delirious patients or those on the verge of delirium? "A patient on the verge of delirium should be kept at home, if possible. Whether at home or in hospital he should be shielded from anything that might puzzle or bewilder him. He should be in a quiet room, nurses should be changed as little as possible, and the laboratory and special procedures such as X-rays should be reduced insofar as possible."

"Somehow, Ivan, You Just Don't Make Sense!"

Larsen's Washington News Notebook

Washington, (NEA) — Sometimes the high-domes who run the U. S. government seem to do things too nicely nice for the country's own good. The latest case in point is the Washington decision, made at the highest levels, to return the Communist MIG aircraft flown to Kimpoo airfield by a North Korean pilot, who wanted to come over to the UN side.

The pilot, who landed this first MIG intact at a UN field, still gets the promised $100,000 reward. But after the plane itself had been taken apart, loaded aboard a transport and flown as far as Okinawa on its way to the States, the order was given to send the plane back to Korea and offer it to the Chinese again.

The psychological value of the plane as an exhibit to stimulate savings-bond sales or recruiting drives is incalculable. But several explanations are given in Washington as to why the plane will be given back.

One reason given is that this particular MIG was an old model and offered U. S. Air Force experts no new information. The Reds don't use their new planes the way we do. The U. S. rushes new models into action as fast as they are in production. Old models are used as trainers. The Russians hoard their new models and use old planes in active service until worn out or shot down.

Another explanation is that the U. S. high command wanted to give this MIG back to the Communists so as to set a precedent. The U. S. might want the Reds to give back planes that fall into their hands. This in spite of the fact that the U. S. is still trying to get back ships lent-leased to Russia 10 years ago.

The official Air Force explanation of the returned MIG incident is that "the highest level" ordered the plane returned to the Reds because that was in the spirit of the truce agreement.

They Last Longer

Jet bombers may cost a lot more money than the piston models of World War 2, but they last a lot longer. It slipped out at a recent press conference that Air Force experts figured the normal depreciation for Boeing B-47 jet bombers would be 10 to 15 percent less than other types. That guess didn't include losses in combat.

It has actually turned out that only 1 1/2 percent of all B-47s have been lost in operations. This also accounts for the fact that the Air Force now has more than 600 B-47s on hand, a figure that also slipped out at the conference.

In view of Russia's successful exploding of a hydrogen device it is expected that the Air Force will increase its order for Boeing B-52s. That's the giant bomber which will deliver U. S. hydrogen bombs.

First Things First

The latest story out of Poland concerns a rejected lover who decided to stroll along the railroad tracks and brood over his fate. The suitor sat on a tree trunk which was across the tracks and pondered.

Suddenly he heard the wail of a train whistle, and he ran back down the track, stopped the train and prevented a serious wreck.

For his efforts he was fined 150 zloty, with an alternate sentence of three days in jail. Seems that walking railroad tracks in Russian-controlled Poland is against the law.

Editor, The Freeman:
The Wicks controversy proves one thing, that an official of a union does not lose his position due to a misdemeanor. This makes it necessary for political officials to go to them no matter where they are to settle labor and union difficulties arising while the seemingly indispensable presidio in jail. It is incredible. In another walk of life a conviction and jail sentence would disqualify the convicted from the position he held prior to sentence. I believe a clause in the oath taken for such office should have an automatic suspension of anyone tried and convicted of a crime—such a clause would also protect the unions from unfavorable publicity.

Repeats Flight

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—Beck with Havens, 63, who flew the first passenger flight from Albany to New York 40 years ago, repeated the flight yesterday—a lot faster and with considerably more ease. Now a New York businessman, Havens piloted an open cockpit hydroplane on the initial flight Oct. 7, 1913. He had to refuel at Chelsea, about 100 miles south of Albany, and landed on Midland Beach when rain and fog hid his scheduled landing spot on Staten Island. On the first trip he left Albany at 1:30 p. m. and arrived well after dark.

THEY DREAM OF FREEDOM

On July 17th the people of East Germany revolted against their Communist masters. The crowds of Germans who demonstrated against the tyranny of the Russians and their puppets caused serious concern in Moscow. In order to pacify these dissatisfied people the Reds made concessions. A higher standard of living was promised to workers, production quotas were lowered and every effort was made to persuade the people that their complaints would receive attention from the government.

Every one of the promises has been broken. The standard of living is lower than before, police measures against those who speak against the government are more severe and the old system of high production norms has been introduced again. This is not piece work like ours, where a man may earn more if he produces more, and is free to produce as he sees fit. It is a system by which a man must work harder and ever harder, with the hurdle he must top rising ever higher before he is paid.

It probably means that the Communist government in East Germany considers itself stronger than it was early in the summer. Evidently the Reds believe that they can now subdue any revolt.

But the July riots happened suddenly and were not anticipated by either the German Communists or the Russians. Some day the people, driven to the point of desperation, will see an opportunity to strike again. The Reds may be able to survive such a blow but every attempt by the people to depose the government weakens its structure. The time may come when the brave men and women who demonstrated on July 17th will see the realization of their dream.

MAN OF FORGIVENESS

General William F. Dean, who was captured by the Communists in Korea through treachery on the part of two Koreans in whom he put trust, is a modest man. He insists that he is not a hero and refers to himself as "just a dog-faced soldier." But in his every utterance and act the fighting general gains stature.

The two men who betrayed General Dean for five dollars apiece were recently indicted by President Syngman Rhee's government. With such grave charges against them punishment would certainly be severe. General Dean, however, has intervened and asked the Korea President to grant the men clemency.

Because of the betrayal by the pair General Dean spent several years in Communist prison camps, subjected to endless questioning, loneliness and privation. Yet he finds it in his heart to forgive and befriend the men who sold him to his enemies. General Dean may be right in his appraisal of himself as "just a dog-faced soldier." In our book a "dog-faced soldier" can be a fine human being.

General Dean had before him, it may be well to remember, an illustrious example. It was that of the Man who, dying on the cross for the sins of humanity, prayed for his enemies: "Father, forgive them: they know not what they do."

FRIEND OF FREEDOM

Ernst Reuter, Mayor of West Berlin, was a staunch fighter for freedom. As a young man he spent a brief period of time as a Communist but it did not take him long to break with the Reds and he fought them the rest of his life. He hated tyranny in any form and was an outspoken critic of the Nazis. When Hitler came to power Reuter was sent to a concentration camp.

In 1948, when the Russians imposed a tight blockade on the city of Berlin, Reuter was a pillar of strength. He exhorted his people to hold out and he expressed faith in the ability of the democracies to break the blockade. The airlift fulfilled that confidence and Reuter's popularity with his people increased.

Last year he visited the United States and conferred with President Eisenhower. Wherever he appeared in the United States

IT COULD NOT BE OTHERWISE

There is a vast experience in our relations with Oriental peoples and out of it must come the conclusion that while they dislike being governed by Westerners, they hate being controlled by any other Oriental people. On June 29, I wrote in this column:

"... From my long experience with Asiatic peoples, I can only see massacres, assassinations and terror in the future. The Koreans will no more submit to the presence of Hindus in their country than they submitted to the Japanese and to Chinese Communists. They even opposed a Formosan participating army."

"The Americans were not resisted because the Koreans knew, as all Asiatics do, that Americans always go home. They are not empire-builders and they have no desire to occupy the lands of other peoples."

"That has never been the history of the Chinese or the Hindus, who have in their history occupied areas imperialistically. China held Korea in suzerainty for 300 years; Japan annexed Korea."

This judgment has unfortunately turned out to be correct. I cite my own words not to advertise my wisdom, small as it is, but to indicate that any student of the Orient should have known that sending Indian troops to Korea would lead to trouble. The British used Sikhs to police the Chinese in their International Settlements and when Sikh police shot down Chinese workers in Shanghai on May 30, 1925, it produced an anti-British boycott that eventually led to revolution.

Indians are temperamentally unsuited to be neutral about anything. They are a volatile, excitable, almost hysterical people, perhaps because they were so long in subjection. While they speak vehemently about their independence, they have known little of it throughout their history. Layer upon layer of conquerors has held the original Dravidian race in subjection. The caste system has been attributed by some historians to these numerous conquests, of which the British was the last. There is no period in Indian history, this includes Pakistan, when these people have known freedom, as we understand the term.

As early as 3,000 years ago, the northern mountains began to pour population down into the valleys and rich plains of India. The Aryans came first, probably from what is now Iran. It was out of this Aryan civilization that the caste system developed, their population being divided into Brahman, Kshatriya, Vaisya, and Sudra, the last being slaves because of their black color.

On account of these conquests and the varieties of ethnic groups, India recognizes 147 distinct languages under nine differentiated families of tongue.

The Persians under Darius I, the polyglot armies of Alexander the Great, the Syrians, the Bactrians, the Yueh-Chih (probably Scythians), the Parthians, the White Huns (Hephthalites), Arabs, Mongols, more recent Persians, Chinese, British, French, Portuguese either invaded or conquered some parts of India. (What is here said of India includes the new nation, Pakistan.)

These, then, are numerous races and combinations of races with long histories of oppression and hatred and internal and external wars. They are insecure people who know nothing good about strangers and who have a long tradition of being either conquerors or of being conquered. The psychological effect of such a history upon the people is to fluctuate between craving for power or becoming bullies when in power.

In the Korean episode the Indians have displayed both characteristics: unable to be neutral because of their insecurity, they cringe before the Russian power that lies on their north and they bully the Koreans, who are too weak to fight back although they threaten to.

The Soviet world touches India and Pakistan at many points. In the northwest, it borders on Afghanistan, which is an unknown quantity and through which the Russians could pass without much difficulty. The famous Khyber Pass that, when the British held it, protected India from the north is no longer defensible. Tibet and the Sinkiang province of China (Turkistan) run a long frontier with India, Pakistan, Nepal, Bhutan, and Assam, making the north of India and both parts of Pakistan readily conquerable.

On both sides of the border are kindred peoples, many of whom are Communists. Many of these races dislike the Indians and would welcome a revolution which would free them. Nehru lives in fear of this and therefore placates Russia. But does that justify bullying Korea?

HOME TREATMENT FOR DELIRIOUS PATIENT

When a patient begins to become overexcited and mistakes friends for enemies, he is approaching delirium and it is only natural for the family to feel that he needs more than home care and should be placed in a mental institution or enter a mental institution of his own free will.

While physicians, nurses and attendants know best how to handle or treat a delirious patient, this entering a mental institution may not be the best treatment for a patient in or approaching delirium.

In the "Journal of Nervous and Mental Diseases," Dr. Max Levin, New York City, states that some cases of toxic delirium start one or more days after the patient on the verge of delirium has been hospitalized; there may be a relation between the approaching delirium and being confined in a mental institution.

The essential or most important feature of delirium being disorientation (not knowing where you are), it follows that a person on the verge of delirium does not find it easy to grasp his environment and keep track of changes in it. When such a person is transferred from home to hospital, a burden is thereby imposed upon his highest mental centers, already under stress and this may act as the final cause of mental derangement.

The thought here, then, is that with a patient already under stress, placing him in strange surroundings is more apt to make him worse when removed from his home or familiar surroundings. "The disorientation of delirium has a special quality in that the patient tends to mistake the unfamiliar for the familiar. In the classic example, a delirious man in the hospital thinks he is at home and mistakes the doctors and nurses for relatives and friends. When a patient is taken from his familiar surroundings to a hospital, the burden of orientating and adapting himself to a new situation is imposed at the very moment he is least able to bear it."

What is the suggestion in delirious patients or those on the verge of delirium? "A patient on the verge of delirium should be kept at home, if possible. Whether at home or in hospital he should be shielded from anything that might puzzle or bewilder him. He should be in a quiet room, nurses should be changed as little as possible, and the laboratory and special procedures such as X-rays should be reduced insofar as possible."

Larsen's Washington News Notebook

Washington, (NEA) — Sometimes the high-domes who run the U. S. government seem to do things too nicely for the country's own good. The latest case in point is the Washington decision, made at the highest levels, to return the Communist MIG aircraft flown to Kimpoo airfield by a North Korean pilot, who wanted to come over to the UN side.

The pilot, who landed this first MIG intact at a UN field, still gets the promised $100,000 reward. But after the plane itself had been taken apart, loaded aboard a transport and flown as far as Okinawa on its way to the States, the order was given to send the plane back to Korea and offer it to the Chinese again.

The psychological value of the plane as an exhibit to stimulate savings-bond sales or recruiting drives is incalculable. But several explanations are given in Washington as to why the plane will be given back.

One reason given is that this particular MIG was an old model and offered U. S. Air Force experts no new information. The Reds don't use their new planes the way we do. The U. S. rushes new models into action as fast as they are in production. Old models are used as trainers. The Russians hoard their new models and use old planes in active service until worn out or shot down.

Another explanation is that the U. S. high command wanted to give this MIG back to the Communists so as to set a precedent. The U. S. might want the Reds to give back planes that fall into their hands. This in spite of the fact that the U. S. is still trying to get back ships lent-leased to Russia 10 years ago.

The official Air Force explanation of the returned MIG incident is that "the highest level" ordered the plane returned to the Reds because that was in the spirit of the truce agreement.

Eligible Solos

Matrimonial pickings are getting thinner on Capitol Hill with Sen. Joe McCarthy and Sen. Jack Kennedy now scratched off the eligible list. At a recent cocktail party a group of society gals compiled the following listing of those eligible bachelors still left on the Hill.

Speaker Joe Martin (68)—top protocol catch.
Rep. Sam Rayburn (71)—his favorite date is his spinster sister.

Sen. Dick Russell (55)—lots of looks.
Sen. Theodore Francis Green (68)—plenty of money.

Sen. Warren Magnuson (48)—goes for the glamorous type.
Sen. Henry Jackson (43)—tall, dark and handsome.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper—(51)—good date for a party.
Rep. Jim Fulton (50)—he can dance.

They Last Longer

Jet bombers may cost a lot more money than the piston models of World War 2, but they last a lot longer. It slipped out at a recent press conference that the Air Force now has more than 600 B-47's on hand, a figure that also slipped out at the conference.

In view of Russia's successful exploding of a hydrogen device it is expected that the Air Force will increase its order for Boeing B-52's. That's the giant bomber which will deliver U. S. hydrogen bombs.

The Wicks controversy proves one thing, that an official of a union does not lose his position due to a misdemeanor. This makes it necessary for political officials to go to them no matter where they are to settle labor and union difficulties arising while the seemingly indispensable preside in jail. It is incredible. In another walk of life a conviction and jail sentence would disqualify the convicted from the position he held prior to sentence. I believe a clause in the oath taken for such office should have an automatic suspension of anyone tried and convicted of a crime—such a clause would also protect the unions from unfavorable publicity.

Prepare to Leave

Trieste, Oct. 10 (AP)—United States and British army units worked at top speed today preparing to pull out of this disputed free territory. Despite Yugoslav demands that plans for the withdrawal be canceled, armies of both nations were beginning to pack up for their eventual departure. Neither the British nor Americans announced when they would leave.

Death Rate

Many of the most civilized countries of the world have death rates of around 10 per thousand per year, but are expected to have, slowly rising death rates in the years to come as death takes an increasing toll in the aging populations.

Churchill Feels Pact Would Bar Third World War

Margate, England, Oct. 10 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill said today he had a "sure hope" that an American-backed East-West non-aggression pact would prevent a third world war.

The 78-year-old statesman, addressing the Conservative Party conference, renewed his call for a secret informal meeting of the Big Four heads of state.

Reviving his proposal for a non-aggression pact patterned after the 1925 Treaty of Locarno, Churchill declared:

"When . . . I spoke about the master thought of Locarno (in a speech on May 11) I meant of course the pact of everybody going against the aggressor who ever he may be and helping the victim large or small."

U. S. Not in Plan
"That is no more than the United Nations was set up to do. We are told that the Locarno treaty failed and did not prevent the war. There was a very good reason for that. The United States was not in it."

"Had the United States taken before the First World War between the wars the same interest and made the same exertions to preserve peace and uphold freedom which—I thank God—she is doing now, there might never have been a first war and there would certainly never have been a second."

"With their mighty aid, I have sure hope there will not be a third."

Churchill became ill shortly after this May 11 proposal and has been out of action since. Of his proposal for a face-to-face meeting with President Eisenhower, Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov and French Premier Joseph Laniel, Churchill declared:

"Five months ago on May 11, I made a speech in the House of Commons. I have not spoken since. This is the first time in my political life that I have kept quiet for so long."

Idea Still Alive
"I asked for very little. I held out no glittering or exciting hopes about Russia. I thought that friendly, informal, personal talks between the leading figures in the countries mainly involved might do good and would not easily do much harm, and that good thing might lead to another."

"This humble, modest plan announced as the policy of Her Majesty's government raised a considerable stir all over the place. And though we have not yet been able to persuade our trusted allies to adopt it in the form suggested no one can say that it is dead."

Raceway Worker Is Held by Police In Murder Case

Mineola, Oct. 10 (AP)—Nassau county police today seized George Florea, indicted Roosevelt Raceway supervisor, at the request of Mt. Vernon police who said he was wanted there for "suspicion of murder."

Assistant Chief Inspector Stuyvesant Pinnell of Nassau county police said Florea would be brought to headquarters to be booked.

The request to pick up Florea came from Inspector George Kummerle of the Mt. Vernon police. Kummerle said the request was on the basis of a message from the State Department of Correction that Florea's fingerprints matched those of a man named George Bernardo alias Joseph Massa, who has been wanted since July 1925 for the murder of two trolley car men in Mt. Vernon.

Two men were electrocuted for the crime, a third trolley state's evidence in the case and two others sought never were apprehended.

Florea, supervisor of parking at Roosevelt Raceway and a shop steward of Local 276, New York State Race Track Employees, was one of 13 men indicted Oct. 8. The 13 were charged with extortion, conspiracy and labor kickbacks.

Their indictments were an outgrowth of an investigation, now state-wide, into the operation of harness race tracks.

Generally Fair

(By The Associated Press)
There were a few wet spots but generally fair and pleasant weather prevailed over most of the nation today. Light to moderate rain continued from Virginia to Florida as a tropical storm moved northeastward over the Atlantic after whipping the Florida peninsula yesterday. Flood conditions in Florida appeared critical in some areas with 16 major highways closed to traffic. Light showers hit northern New England while moderate to heavy rain fell from northern California northward. Clear skies were reported in most other parts of the country.

Becomes Engaged, Killed

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—A young man was killed in an automobile accident today just four hours after he had slipped an engagement ring on his fiancée's finger. Police identified him as Eugene O'Neill, 21, of Woodside, Queens. They said the fiancée, not in the car at the time of the accident, was Jean Agapna, 21, of Maspeth, Queens. They had been driving together last night. While the car was stopped at a red traffic light at about 10 p. m. he gave her the ring.

The "Spanish Main" originally referred to the Spanish colonies on the mainland of South America, but the term was extended to include the islands and waters of the Americas which were under Spanish control.

British Guiana Quiet After Six Are Ousted

Georgetown, British Guiana, Oct. 10 (AP)—With imperial troops and warships maintaining order at strategic points, British Guiana remained calm today despite London's ouster of six ministers on Communist charges and suspension of the colony's six-month-old constitution.

Washington backed up Britain, expressing grave concern over the threat to western hemisphere security from a possible coup in this South American colony by the "international communist conspiracy." The U. S. State Department expressed gratification that the "British government is taking firm action to meet the situation."

Steps were taken to officially inform all Latin American governments of the U. S. stand. Five hundred troops of the Royal Welsh Fusiliers guarding government centers in Georgetown and rich sugar plantations on the surrounding plains reported no disturbances.

Cab Driver . . .

and arranged for delivery of a note to Mrs. Bonnie Heady, also charged with Hall in the case.

Hager said that at the tourist court "Steve went to his coat, came back and tossed a fistful of $20s on the bed. He said he was half looped and asked me to count it. There was $2,480. He pulled another $20 from his pocket, handed me the $2,500 and said, 'John, I want you to keep this for me.'"

Shows Revolver
"He walked to the closet, came back with a .38 caliber revolver and said, 'aint this a beauty?'"

Hager told of returning Tuesday morning with a rented car, another suitcase and a brief case asked by Hall. Hall then had Hager take the O'Day woman where she could get a cab, he said.

"While riding with her she said 'there must be a million dollars back there,' Hager related.

"That's when I got scared," he told Schafers.

He said he went back to Steve at the tourist court where Hall told him he was an ex-convict and that insurance investigators were looking for him.

When Hager saw Hall the first time that morning, he said, "Steve was wild, pacing up and down like a mad man. He said the plans had been changed."

Hager said he was away from Hall about three hours Tuesday afternoon. On his return, he said, he noticed mud on the fenders of the rented car which he had left with Hall. He and Hall had appeared in a good frame of mind.

Hager rented an apartment for Hall at his request. It was there Lt. Shoulders arrested Hall at 8 p. m.

Bee Sting . . .

car was passing the Daly car when the Daly car made a right turn into Elmendorf street.

Mrs. Koch was treated and X-rayed at the hospital but was not admitted, it was reported.

Officers Meyer Levy and Francis Buchanan reported that she received a cut on the head in a fight with Florence Schoonmaker, 23, of 47 Meadow street, who received a wound in her right shoulder. Miss Schoonmaker was treated but not admitted.

Records Are Seized

"Surely Governor Dewey cannot believe that the people of the city are so glibly as to think that the city campaign manager of the Republican Party will change his function even if he has changed his title. . . ."

"Surely the governor does not think he can convince the people that he honestly intends to get the full story of Republican participation in racketeer scandals by appointing a man who has undertaken the job of electing the Republican candidate for mayor."

"The people of this city and state are entitled to facts, not whitewash. There is no room for playing partisan politics with venality and corruption."

Would Probe Withdrawal

Trieste, Oct. 10 (AP)—Rep. Harold C. Hagen (R-Minn.) today attacked withdrawal of American and British troops from Trieste as "unrealistic" and said he will ask Congress to investigate the decision. Arriving here from Yugoslavia at the end of a five-week tour of Europe, Hagen said he will urge the House and Senate Foreign Affairs Committees to send an investigation team here in hopes of delaying the withdrawal.

"My personal view is that the city should be made a free and independent port, governed by a council under joint allied jurisdiction," he said.

Prepare to Leave

Trieste, Oct. 10 (AP)—United States and British army units worked at top speed today preparing to pull out of this disputed free territory. Despite Yugoslav demands that plans for the withdrawal be canceled, armies of both nations were beginning to pack up for their eventual departure. Neither the British nor Americans announced when they would leave.

Death Rate

Many of the most civilized countries of the world have death rates of around 10 per thousand per year, but are expected to have slowly rising death rates in the years to come as death takes an increasing toll in the aging populations.

Churchill Feels Pact Would Bar Third World War

Margate, England, Oct. 10 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill said today he had a "sure hope" that an American-backed East-West non-aggression pact would prevent a third world war.

The 78-year-old statesman, addressing the Conservative Party conference, renewed his call for a secret, informal pact of the Big Four heads of state.

Reviving his proposal for a non-aggression pact patterned after the 1925 Treaty of Locarno, Churchill declared: "When . . . I spoke about the master thought of Locarno (in a speech on May 11) I meant of course the plan of everybody going against the aggressor who ever he may be and helping the victim large or small."

U. S. Not in Plan

"That is no more than the United Nations was set up to do. 'We are told that the Locarno treaty failed and did not prevent the war. There was a very good reason for that. The United States was not in it.'"

"Had the United States taken before the First World War or between the wars the same interest and made the same exertions to preserve peace and uphold freedom which—I thank God—she is doing now, there might never have been a first war and there would certainly never have been a second."

"With their mighty aid, I have sure hope there will not be a third."

Churchill became ill shortly after this May 11 proposal and has been out of action since.

Of his proposal for a face-to-face meeting with President Eisenhower, Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov and French Premier Joseph Laniel, Churchill declared:

"Five months ago on May 11, I made a speech in the House of Commons. I have not spoken since. This is the first time in my political life that I have kept quiet for so long."

Idea Still Alive

"I asked for very little. I held out no glittering or exciting hopes about Russia. I thought that friendly, informal, personal talks between the leading figures in the countries mainly involved might do good and would not easily do much harm, and that good thing might lead to another."

"This humble, modest plan announced as the policy of Her Majesty's government raised a considerable stir all over the place. And though we have not yet been able to persuade our trusted allies to adopt it in the form suggested no one can say that it is dead."

Raceway Worker Is Held by Police In Murder Case

Mincola, Oct. 10 (AP)—Nassau county police today seized George Florea, indicted Roosevelt Raceway supervisor, at the request of Mt. Vernon police who said he was wanted there for "suspicion of murder."

Assistant Chief Inspector Stuyvesant Pinnell of Nassau county police said Florea would be brought to headquarters to be booked.

The request to pick up Florea came from Inspector George Kummerle of the Mt. Vernon police.

Kummerle said the request was on the basis of a message from the State Department of Correction that Florea's fingerprints matched those of a man named George Bernardo alias Joseph Massa, who has been wanted since July 1925 for the murder of two trolley car men in Mt. Vernon.

Two men were electrocuted for the crime, a third turned state's evidence in the case and two others sought never were apprehended.

Florea, supervisor of parking at Roosevelt Raceway and a shop steward of Local 276, New York State Race Track Employees, was one of 13 men indicted Oct. 8.

The 13 were charged with extortion, conspiracy and labor kickbacks.

Their indictments were an outgrowth of an investigation, now state-wide, into the operation of harness race tracks.

Generally Fair

(By The Associated Press) There were a few wet spots but generally fair and pleasant weather prevailed over most of the nation today. Light showers hit northern New England while moderate to heavy rain fell from northern California northward. Clear skies were reported in most other parts of the country.

Becomes Engaged, Killed

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—A young man was killed in an automobile accident today just four hours after he had slipped an engagement ring on his fiancée's finger. Police identified him as Eugene O'Neill, 21, of Woodside, Queens. They said the fiancée, not in the car at the time of the accident, was Jean Agneta, 21, of Maspeth, Queens. They had been driving together last night. While the car was stopped at a red traffic light at about 10 p. m. he gave her the ring.

The Spanish Main

British Guiana Quiet After Six Are Ousted

Georgetown, British Guiana, Oct. 10 (AP)—With imperial troops and warships maintaining order at strategic points, British Guiana remained calm today despite London's ouster of six ministers on Communist charges and suspension of the colony's six-month-old constitution.

Washington backed up Britain, expressing grave concern over the threat to western hemispheric security from a possible coup in this South American colony by the "international Communist conspiracy." The U. S. State Department expressed gratification that the "British government is taking firm action to meet the situation."

Steps were taken to officially inform all Latin American governments of the U. S. stand.

Five hundred troops of the Royal Welsh Fusiliers guarding government centers in Georgetown and rich sugar plantations on the surrounding plains reported no disturbances.

Cab Driver . . .

and arranged for delivery of a note to Mrs. Bonnie Hager, also charged with Hall in the case.

Hager said that at the tourist court "Steve went to his coat, came back and tossed a fistful of $20s on the bed. He said he was half looped and asked me to count it. There was $2,480. He pulled another $20 from his pocket, handed me the $2,500 and said, 'John, I want you to keep this for me.'"

Shows Revolver

"He walked to the closet, came back with a .38 caliber revolver and said, 'aint this a beaut?'" Hager told of returning Tuesday morning with a rented car, another suitcase and a brief case asked by Hall. Hall then had Hager take the O'Day woman where she could get a cab, he said.

While riding with her she said "there must be a million dollars back there," Hager related. "That's when I got scared," he told Schafers.

He said he went back to Steve at the tourist court, where Hall told him he was an ex-convict and that insurance investigators were looking for him.

When Hager saw Hall the first time that morning, he said, "Steve was wild, pacing up and down like a mad man. He said the plans had been changed."

Hager said he was away from Hall about three hours Tuesday afternoon. On his return, he said, he noticed mud on the fenders of the rented car which he had left with Hall. He said hall then appeared in a good frame of mind.

Hager rented an apartment for Hall at his request. It was there Lt. Shoulders arrested Hall at 8 p. m.

Miss Schoonmaker was treated but not admitted.

Records Are Seized

"Surely Governor Dewey cannot believe that the people of the city are so gullible as to think that the city campaign manager of the Republican Party will change his function even if he has changed his title. . . ."

"Surely the governor does not think he can convince the people that he honestly intends to get the full story of Republican participation in racketeer scandals by appointing a man who has undertaken the job of electing the Republican candidate for mayor."

"The people of this city and state are entitled to facts, not whitewash. There is no room for playing partisan politics with venality and corruption."

Would Probe Withdrawal

Trieste, Oct. 10 (AP)—Rep. Harold C. Hagen (R-Minn.) today attacked withdrawal of American and British troops from Trieste as "unrealistic" and said he will ask Congress to investigate the decision. Arriving here from Yugoslavia at the end of a five-week tour of Europe, Hagen said he will urge the House and Senate Foreign Affairs Committees to send an investigation team here in hopes of delaying the withdrawal. "My personal view is that the city should be made a free and independent port, governed by a council under joint allied jurisdiction," he said.

Driver Is Unhurt

George E. Campbell, 61, of High Falls was reported unhurt when his automobile upset on Route 209 a quarter-mile south of the state office barracks at Waverling about 1:05 p. m. Friday. Getting an income tax refund is something like being shot at and missed.

The only thing to do about an obstacle blocking your path is to stand up and attack it.

Her Father—What? A young whippersnapper like you wants to marry my daughter? What nerve!

Do you think you can give her what she's used to at home?

Author Robert Louis Stevenson first used this expression in the "Wrecker." He used it to describe a man who was not sick but too over-worked and tired to venture out into the bad weather. The expression is in popular usage today.

Railroad Club Has Exhibition Slated October 18 to 25

The 11th annual public exhibition of the Kingston Model Railroad Club will open at 2:30 p. m. on Sunday, Oct. 18, and continue through the following Sunday, Oct. 25.

This year's show will feature the improved operation of the quarter-inch scale "Hudson Valley Lines," advertised as "a complete miniature railroad system in action." For the last time in its recent size. During the past year the club members have been erecting a 30-foot addition to the club quarters, and the 1934 show will feature many innovations in building almost 100 feet long, and Kenneth E. Martin, club president.

Show operations include the representation of both modern and old-fashioned railroad cars and locomotives with the steam engine, fast disappearing from the present-day scene, depicted hauling the "fast freight" and passenger trains along side of the modern diesel locomotives. The miniature system is completely displayed in scale-model scenery with towns and rolling countryside showing off the small train. A mountain division displays rains winding up hills and through valleys similar to scenery found along the right of way of any mountain railroad.

Popular With Public
In past years the exhibition has attracted more than 1,500 people in the two Sundays, from 2:30 to 4 p. m., and evenings through the week from 7:30 to 10 p. m., club president Martin said. "It is the patronage of our visitors that has enabled us to make additions to our club quarters on two occasions, and they seem well-pleased with our presentations of the past years."

The annual show is presented at the club quarters, located along side of the West Shore freight station at 541 Broadway. Pedestrian entrance to the show is made through the medium of the stairway leading up from the Broadway underpass at the freight house. Entrance by automobile is from Pine Grove avenue to Susan street, and ample parking facilities are available for show visitors.

Village Artists' Works on Display in Whitney Show

Woodstock, Oct. 9—A large group of Woodstock artists' will be represented in the 1953 Annual Exhibition of Contemporary American Painting to open at the Whitney Museum of American Art, 10 West 8th street, New York, Thursday, Oct. 15. This will be the last of the annual exhibitions to be held in the galleries on Eighth street. The next painting annual is scheduled for 1954 in the new Museum building on West 54th street, now under construction.

Each of the 1951 invited artists was asked to choose his own painting. This method of selection was used when this series of exhibitions was inaugurated 21 years ago, but since 1943 the selection of works has been made by members of the staff. This year, however, because an earlier opening date made it impossible to get in touch with artists and dealers during the summer when the show was organized, the Museum reverted to the earlier method of choosing work. Artists from 29 states and the District of Columbia are represented and 17 are exhibiting for the first time in a painting annual.

Artists from Woodstock whose work is included in the show are Lucile Blanch, Edward Chavez, Karl Fortess, Jack Levine, Howard Mandel, Fletcher Martin, Henry Mattson, Anton Refregier, Judson Smith, Ralph Wickiser and Henry Schnakenberg.

The exhibition will continue through Dec. 6. Hours are 1 to 5 p. m. Tuesday through Sunday. The museum is closed Mondays. Admission is free.

Durant Speaker At Book Luncheon

Woodstock, Oct. 9—Dr. Will Durant, noted author and philosopher of Lake Hill, was one of the three speakers Tuesday at the 17th season of Book and Author Luncheons, sponsored by the New York Herald Tribune and the American Booksellers Association. The luncheon was held at the Astor in New York, with a capacity audience of 1,700 persons.

Dr. Durant, author of The Renaissance and many other works, discussed present trends in world civilization, and listed five important trends:

1. Adoption of Western technological processes by Oriental people, including the Russians, which, combined with Oriental fertility meant, he said, "the decline of the West."
2. Adoption of air power, which, he prophesied, would mean further dominance of great land-mass nations like China, Russia, Brazil and the United States.
3. The decline of religious belief.
4. A compensatory movement toward Socialism.

A change from an agricultural to an industrial culture, with the corresponding change in sexual mores.

"These changes are not really important," he said, "for civilizations don't die—they change. What is more important is that they shall be transmitted to newer civilizations."

SOLEMN AND GAY, HAWAIIAN YOUNGSTERS POINT FOR COLORFUL ALOHA WEEK FETE

In hillside playgrounds, along the beaches, public parks and in island schools, Hawaii's children are cutting costumes, trimming kahilis, designing leis and learning new and old hulas. It's all part of getting ready for Hawaii's biggest public fiesta, Aloha Week, the fall festival that starts October 18. As seen in the pictures below, to some of the kids this annual entertaining for parents and vacationers is a solemn business. To others, it's a singing, dancing game, a time for giggles and high spirits, a holiday of make-believe.

"HOME" WORK, literally, is what these Honolulu schoolboys are doing as they prepare a grass hut for Aloha Week. It's in a model village where visitors will see what life was like in Old Hawaii.

All the colorful races of the islands—Chinese, Japanese, Filipino, European, Korean, Samoan and, of course, Hawaiian—take part. Though much of the charm of the five-island festival is the part played by the youngsters, adults, too, let themselves go. Major events include an international pageant, floral and lantern parades, mass hulas, songfests and community luau or feasts. There's no frost on the pumpkin in tropical Hawaii, but there's fun for all under the Harvest Moon.

SERIOUS BUSINESS of portraying royalty of the lost Hawaiian kingdom carries heavy responsibility in the opinion of the young "King" and "Queen," with their royal standard-bearers.

HIP-NOTIZED are these young bucks as they watch an expert show them how to get that certain zing into a hula. In ancient times the hula was considered strictly a male prerogative.

Letter Jackpot

Camp Atterbury, Ind., Oct. 10 (AP)—A soldier dropped a letter in a wall slot by mistake Friday, opening the wall to get it back and hit a jackpot—200 other letters written in 1945 and 1946. Camp authorities established the years the letters were dropped by the units listed in return addresses. All were stationed here more than seven years ago. All properly addressed letters will be forwarded, unopened, with a letter of explanation.

Davidson attributed the increases to rising costs.

Coffee May Go Up

Chicago, Oct. 10 (AP)—It looks like the price of a cup of coffee going up—to about 15 cents. Chief factor in the expected boost is the recent wholesale increase of 7 to 9 cents a pound in the last month, said Donald Kiesau, executive vice president of the Chicago Restaurant Association. He also cited more pay for labor. Most restaurants now charge from 10 to 12 cents for a cup of coffee which 10 years ago cost a nickel.

Checks Rubbish Fire

Ulster Hose Company, No. 5, town of Ulster, was summoned at 12:20 p. m. Friday to Morton Boulevard where a rubbish fire on the Cabot Construction Company property had communicated to the grass and brush and spread to a pile of lumber owned by the Shults Construction Company. Chief William Norton said. Chief Norton sent one piece of equipment and the blaze was extinguished after a canvas cover over the lumber and a considerable quantity of lumber and plywood had been burned. No estimate of the loss could be given until it is ascertained how much of the lumber may be salvaged. The apparatus returned to the firehouse at 1:15 p. m.

Letter Jackpot

Camp Atterbury, Ind., Oct. 10 (AP)—A soldier dropped a letter in a wall slot by mistake Friday, opened the wall to get it back and hit a jackpot—200 other letters written in 1945 and 1946. Camp authorities established the years the letters were dropped by the units listed in return addresses. All were stationed here more than seven years ago. All properly addressed letters will be forwarded, unopened, with a letter of explanation.

Coffee May Go Up

Chicago, Oct. 10 (AP)—It looks like the price of a cup of coffee in most Chicago restaurants is going up—to about 15 cents. Chief factor in the expected boost is the recent wholesale increase of 7 to 9 cents a pound in the last month, said Donald Kiesau, executive vice president of the Chicago Restaurant Association. He also cited more pay for labor. Most restaurants now charge from 10 to 12 cents for a cup of coffee which 10 years ago cost a nickel.

Union Boosts Tuition

Schenectady, Oct. 10 (AP)—Union College will raise its tuition as much as $200, effective with the fall semester of 1954. President Carter Davidson said yesterday the $600 fee for liberal arts and pre-medical students would be increased $100. Tuition for engineering students will be boosted from $600 to $800 a year. Davidson attributed the increases to rising costs.

Friday to Morton Boulevard where a rubbish fire on the Cabot Construction Company property had communicated to the grass and brush and spread to a pile of lumber owned by the Shultis Construction Company. Chief William Norton said. Chief Norton sent one piece of equipment and the blaze was extinguished after a canvas cover over the lumber and a considerable quantity of lumber and plywood had been burned. No estimate of the loss could be given until it is ascertained how much of the lumber may be salvaged. The apparatus returned to the firehouse at 1:15 p. m.

Fashion Bows to Autumn Bride

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor

New York — (NEA)—The fall bride gets, these days, just as much fashion attention as the bride of spring or summer. She may have a bridal gown of satin, lavishly trimmed in ermine and seed pearls, or she may walk down the aisle in a simple sheath of soft, white leather. The point is that the bride of today has many fashions from which to pick her wedding dress. When she sets out to buy her lingerie, she will look for (and find) luxurious bridal sets that are actually practical because they offer long wear and easy care. New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—The CIO Transport Workers Union conceded yesterday that the New York City Transit Authority alone has the power to regulate schedules on the city's subway and bus lines. ### Dusty Fields May Cut Crops for Next Year

Washington, Oct. 10 (AP)—The Agriculture Department says farmers are harvesting the third largest volume of crops in history, but are running into trouble on crops sown this fall for harvest next year.

In an October crop report yesterday, the agency said favorable weather in September helped develop crops and bear out its earlier forecast that the crop volume would be topped only by harvests in 1948 and 1952.

But dry weather was said to be retarding preparation of fields and seeding of winter wheat, rye and oats for harvest next year. The department said that throughout the country much grain has been sown in the dust.

Check Refrigerators

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—Health inspectors have condemned 229 water cooled gas refrigerators in the first two days of a citywide inspection to prevent death and illness from carbon monoxide fumes from the appliances. The 229 were among 506 found defective in the 744 refrigerators checked so far. In the case of 277 with minor defects, landlords were directed to effect repairs. Dr. John F. Mahoney, health commissioner, estimated at the beginning of the drive that about 40,000 of the refrigerators are in use in this city and that about half of them are "seriously defective."

Up to Authority

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—The CIO Transport Workers Union conceded yesterday that the New York City Transit Authority alone has the power to regulate schedules on the city's subway and bus lines. The concession, signed by lawyers for the union and the authority, put the matter of settling union-authority disputes into the hands of Justice Walter R. Hart, of the State Supreme Court. Hart, it was decided by the union and the authority, will review the proposed new schedules which the union had previously contested, and will give his opinion two weeks after the cases have been heard. The authority then has the right to accept or reject his recommendations.

Fog Slows Shipping

London, Oct. 10 (AP)—Morning fog covered the English Channel and much of southern England today, slowing shipping and rail service.

Dusty Fields May Cut Crops for Next Year

Washington, Oct. 10 (AP)—The Agriculture Department says farmers are harvesting the third largest volume of crops in history, but are running into trouble on crops sown this fall for harvest next year.

In an October crop report yesterday, the agency said favorable weather in September helped develop crops and bear out its earlier forecast that the crop volume would be topped only by harvests in 1948 and 1952.

But dry weather was said to be retarding preparation of fields and seeding of winter wheat, rye and oats for harvest next year. The department said that throughout the country much grain has been sown in the dust.

Check Refrigerators

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—Health inspectors have condemned 229 water cooled gas refrigerators in the first two days of a citywide inspection to prevent death and illness from carbon monoxide fumes from the appliances. The 229 were among 506 found defective in the 744 refrigerators checked so far. In the case of 277 with minor defects, landlords were directed to effect repairs. Dr. John F. Mahoney, health commissioner, estimated at the beginning of the drive that about 40,000 of the refrigerators are in use in this city and that about half of them are "seriously defective."

Fashion Bows to Autumn Bride

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor

New York — (NEA)—The fall bride gets, these days, just as much fashion attention as the bride of spring or summer. She may have a bridal gown of satin, lavishly trimmed in ermine and seed pearls, or she may walk down the aisle in a simple sheath of soft, white leather. The point is that the bride of today has many fashions from which to pick her wedding dress.

When she sets out to buy her lingerie, she will look for (and find) luxurious bridal sets that are actually practical because they offer long wear and easy care.

The gown and belted peignoir set that we show here (left) are in angel crepe nylon. This is a textured fabric resembling crepe de chine. It washes readily and takes a minimum of ironing to look pretty. The robe may be worn loose, belted or half belted.

Sweeping peignoir with great lady look (right) is in a smooth taffeta that's a mixture of nylon and orlon. It needs no ironing at all; but the velvet bow should be removed before laundering.

Maury McDermott Starting Pitcher for Shea's Stars on Sunday

Cross Country Squad Routs Cardinal Farley

2,000 Expected To See Galaxy Of Big Leaguers

Area Little Leaguers Will Attend Game

One of the great days in Kingston baseball history is scheduled Sunday at 2:05 p. m. at municipal stadium when Frank "Spec" Shea, Washington Senator pitcher, leads his Major League Stars against an all-star Hudson valley combine.

Upwards of 2,000 fans, including solid representation from our area Little Leaguers, are expected to bask in perfect autumn weather at the game.

Shea has named Maury McDermott, of Poughkeepsie, brilliant young Boston Red Sox southpaw, as his starting pitcher. McDermott, the new Lefty Grove, won 18 games this season. Bob Porterfield, 23-game winner with the Senators this season, and Vic Raschi, New York Yankee great, are also expected to see action.

Dick Whitesell of Poughkeepsie and Tony Williams of Kingston have not announced the pitching selection for the locals but he will be a major league hurler to be announced at game time.

Lineup Announced
Shea's galaxy of American and National League stars include Raschi, Gil MacDougall and Gene Woodling of the 1953 World Series champion Yankees. Others scheduled to see action are:

Boston Red Sox—Maury McDermott, Jr., Jim Piersall.

Detroit Tigers—Johnny Pesky, Walt Dropo.

Washington Senators—Bob Porterfield, Frank Shea, Mickey Grasso.

Pittsburgh Pirates—Eddie Pellagrini, John Koback.

Jay Also Listed

An extra attraction is Joey Jay, Milwaukee Brave southpaw who is the first Little Leaguer to graduate to the big leagues.

The Saugerties and Glasco Little Leaguers and the American and National League of the Little League Association of Kingston will attend to swell the total of Little Leaguers present to 240.

The Italian-American Club of Glasco will be host to the four-team Glasco Little League. John Souers of Saugerties arranged for the Saugerties trip and the local Little League Association is sponsoring the American and National Leaguers.

Paul E. Gardner, president of the Little League Association, made the local announcement Friday.

Valley Roster

Arrayed against the major leaguers is a large all-star squad recruited from the three teams that recently vied for the Senator Desmond Trophy in the round robin series between Kingston, Poughkeepsie and Newburgh.

The Newburgh delegation includes Bobby "Irish" Newhard, second sacker with a 423 average for 22 games, Jim Lawson, 8-4 as a pitcher, Joe Ranalli, Paul Evans and Bobby Spreer.

Poughkeepsie will be represented by Dick Whitesell, Jake Charter, Bobby Rathbun, Fran Whalen and Dick Sullivan.

Kingston's entries include Bill Glaser, Red Gorsline, Bob Schaffer, Augie Passante, Lefty Passante, Harry Kite and Tom Carlino.

Yonkers Feature To Ferman Hanover

Yonkers, Oct. 10 (AP)—Ferman Hanover, six year old gelding owned by Cleo A. Young of Timmonsville, S. C., won the $6,000 junior free for all pace last night at Yonkers Raceway in 2:04.2.

Ferman Hanover, racing on the outside the entire race, was second from the half mile to the top of the stretch. Here Hugh Bell sent Ferman Hanover into the lead which he managed to hold by a head margin over Scotch Spencer, driven by Neal Houslet. The return on Ferman Hanover was $3.70, $2.60, $2.40.

Browns Get Acid Test Tonight

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles, who generally were picked to stir up things in the National Football League this fall, tangle with the all-conquering Cleveland Browns tonight in a make-or-break game.

The league's 34th season is only two weeks old and the best the Eagles have done in two games is a 21-21 tie with Washington. In their other start they dropped a 31-21 decision to the San Francisco 49ers. At least they have been consistent in number of points scored in each game.

By contrast the Browns top the Eastern Conference with two victories, scored at the expense of Green Bay and the Chicago Cardinals. In each game Paul Brown's boys tallied 27 points while holding the Packers scoreless and checking the Cardinals with seven.

Graham Ageless
With Otto Graham showing no signs of age in so far as his deadly passing is concerned, the Browns figure to remain unbeaten and march on to another conference championship.

The remainder of the league sees action tomorrow. Baltimore plays the Bears at Chicago. The Cardinals will be at Pittsburgh. Los Angeles Rams and the Packers tangle at Milwaukee. New York's weakness is hope to get their offense clicking against the Redskins at Washington and the 49ers and the Lions clash at Detroit in a game between the unbeaten leaders of the Western Conference.

The Lions may be champions of the league but they haven't played like that against the 49ers in recent years. Since 1905 the west coast eleven has whipped Detroit five times, including twice last year by 17-3 and 29-0 scores.

But some of the boys say the San Francisco defense is not powerful enough this time to halt the running of Don Walker and Bobby Hoernscheuwer and the passing of Bobby Lane.

Coletti Captures Second Flight in Woodstock Golf

Phil Coletti of West Shokan captured the 1953 second flight golf title at Woodstock Country Club with a surprise 4 and 3 triumph over Ted King in the 18-hole finals.

En route to the finals, Coletti survived a first round scare by Corry Sewell, winning 1-up on the 19th hole. Then came victories over Karl Kartfeuer, 5 and 4, and a 2-up decision over Eugene Speicher.

Principals in Sunday's Game

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

The biggest high school football game in recent Mid-Hudson history is due to unfold Saturday, Oct. 24, at Poughkeepsie. That's the day Sam Kallouch's best post-war Blues tangle with Kingston High's Maroons in the showdown for the 1953 DUSO title.

Portly Sam Kallouch has waited a long time for his moment in the football sun. It appears to be close at hand.

Just how good is this Poughkeepsie monster? In case you didn't hear, they romped over Newburgh Academy, 41-14, and could have made it worse if the first string operators had gone all the way.

"Bo" Gill, a solid NFA rooster, privately predicted that Poughkeepsie would crush the Goldbacks "about 37 to 6". George Paimace, the corresponding star of the Poughkeepsie team, was "maybe a touchdown" better than the dehydrated Goldbacks.

Results of the contest confirmed Gill as a pigskin prophet and revealed George in one of his rare moments of whimsy.

"Poughkeepsie this year is as good as the NFA machine of 1951," Gill asserts. "Kingston had better be on that day and playing them in Poughkeepsie doesn't make it any easier."

Presumably both teams will be undefeated up to that fateful day. The cataclysmic clash is expected to "start" high school football fans from every important game in the mid-Hudson area. That's the sort of interest that is being built up for the big one.

Flotsam and Jetsam:
A flashback to the recent Seniors golf tournament: Floyd W. Flint, Ralph E. Gardner and Wilson C. Ingalls deserve an order for their astute promotion of the 1953 event. Next year it goes to Woodstock Country Club's flat fairways and will attract a larger entry. This must be a big year for the Columbia Lion. How about Harold F. King, the Old Blue, racking up an 85 gross in the Seniors? Carl Semmler, the Woodstock Country Club's Toots Shor, leaves for a European vacation around Nov. 15. Twaalfskill Golf Club women fete their 1953 champions at a kaffee klatsch on Tuesday afternoon. Karl Strobel, former KHS fullback, headed for his biggest season at Wagner College. As a freshman quarterback last year he hit with 8 of his 22 passing attempts, four of them going for TDs. Karl flipped the game-winning pass that nipped Susquehanna, 32-36 in 1952, giving the Flying Dutchmen their sixth consecutive homecoming triumph on the last play of the game.

The Man at the Mike:
One of the more rewarding experiences in covering DUSO football is the biennial trek to Port Jervis where the dulcet tones of Al Chase, retired Red and Black football coach, come waiting out of the PA system. The man behind the PA mike is traditionally impartial except in Port Jervis. Al Chase doesn't mean any harm and we doubt if he realizes what he's saying on occasions. It is difficult for a man his age to renounce completely his affinity with Port Jervis football. For instance, when one of Kingston High's intricate maneuvers went haywire against Port a few nights ago, Chase bellowed: "Hah! That play didn't fool anybody, he lost two yards." When Port was on the march, Al admonished the crowd: "Stop the noise please, stop the noise, the boys have to hear the signals." Port was trailing by plenty in the closing minutes and with the bravado born of desperation, Chase told the crowd, "Quite a little time, folks... quite a little time." Then came a "nice play by that guard" (a Red and Black lineman, of course). Nothing like a little school spirit.

Of Men and Mice:
Harry L. "Pop" Edson told listeners at the recent VFW banquet for its Fraternal Youth League team that he first roared for Troy in the major leagues more than 70 years ago. That same Troy franchise later became the New York Giants of John McGraw. The venerable "Pop" told the youngsters there was one sure-fire formula for a full and happy life: "Work hard and play hard." According to "Poppy" Burns of the Saugerties Post, Hans Schmidt, the top villain of pro wrestling has been exposed as a Canadian-born Frenchman by the name of Guy La Rose. Investigation by August Steuer, president of the Staatszeitung and Sport-Herold, an American newspaper in German language in New York, has proved beyond doubt the following facts about "Hans Schmidt": 1. That his name is not Hans Schmidt, that he is not German, that he was born in Montreal, Canada, and that his real name is Guy La Rose. This information has been verified by the Illinois Athletic Commission which reports that this so-called "Hans Schmidt", is registered there by his real name, Guy La Rose.

During an interview last August with Jack Brickhouse, the Saturday night Chicago TV spieler, Hans made himself the most hated wrestler all over the country. His statements aroused a wave of indignation, especially in German-American circles. He does not believe in sportsmanship, Hans told Brickhouse, and anybody who does believe in it is "nuts". His apology two weeks later only added insult to injury.

And the tree that grows in Brooklyn must certainly be a weeping willow since the World Series.

Pilot Tabs Troy Ready In 8 Bouts

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—"Eight more fights and he'll be ready for a title shot."

That's what co-manager George Winn said after his Willie Troy stopped rubbery Terry Moore of Baltimore in 2:49 of the seventh round of a telecast bout at St. Nicholas Arena last night.

It was no contest as the power-punching 21-year-old Washington, D. C., middleweight scored his 22nd victory and 16th knockout. A knockout loss to Holly Mims is the only blot on his record.

Next in line for Willie is either Randy Sandy or the winner of the Oct. 23 Garden fight between Tuzo (Kid) Portoguez and Pierre Langlois. Chicago or St. Louis probably will get Troy's next fight.

Sandy was to have been Troy's opponent last night but he withdrew Tuesday with a bad eye and Moore filled in on four-days notice.

Against Troy, he just didn't have it.

Troy, a 4-1 favorite at ring time, weighed 158½ to Moore's 160½. A slim crowd of about 1,000 saw the "studio" show which was broadcast and telecast coast to coast.

Co-manager Al Weill, who saw the telecast in Arkansas, telephoned to say that Troy would be ready to take on the winner of the Bobo Olson-Randy Turpin middleweight title fight.

Troy is a good prospect, but not that good.

Maury McDermott Starting Pitcher for Shea's Stars on Sunday

2,000 Expected To See Galaxy Of Big Leaguers

Area Little Leaguers Will Attend Game

One of the great days in Kingston baseball history is scheduled Sunday at 2:05 p. m. at municipal stadium when Frank "Spec" Shea, Washington Senator pitcher, leads his Major League Stars against an all-star Hudson valley combine.

Upwards of 2,000 fans, including solid representation from our area Little Leaguers, are expected to bask in perfect autumn weather at the game.

Shea has named Maury McDermott, of Poughkeepsie, brilliant young Boston Red Sox southpaw, as his starting pitcher. McDermott, the new Lefty Grove, won 18 games this season. Bob Porterfield, 23-game winner with the Senators this season, and Vic Raschi, New York Yankee great, are also expected to see action.

Dick Whitesell of Poughkeepsie and Tony Williams of Kingston have not announced the pitching selection for the locals but he will be a major league hurler to be announced at game time.

Lineup Announced

Shea's galaxy of American and National League stars include Raschi, Gil MacDougald and Gene Woodling of the 1953 World Series champion Yankees.

Others scheduled to see action are:

Boston Red Sox—Maury McDermott, Jr., Jim Piersall.

Detroit Tigers—Johnny Pesky, Walt Dropp.

Washington Senators—Bob Porterfield, Frank Shea, Mickey Grasso.

Pittsburgh Pirates—Eddie Pellagrini, John Koback.

Jay Also Listed

An extra attraction is Joey Jay, Milwaukee Braves southpaw who is the first Little Leaguer to graduate to the big leagues.

The Saugerties and Glasco Little Leaguers and the American and National League of the Little League Association of Kingston will attend to swell the total of Little Leaguers present to 240.

The Italian-American Club of Glasco will be the four-team Glasco Little League. John Souers of Saugerties arranged for the Saugerties trip and the local Little League Association is sponsoring the American and National Leagues.

Paul E. Gardner, president of the Little League Association, made the local announcement Friday.

Valley Roster

Arranged against the major league is a varied all-star squad recruited from the three teams that recently vied for the Senator Desmond Trophy in the round robin series among Kingston, Poughkeepsie and Newburgh.

The Newburgh delegation includes Bobby Irish, Newburgh pitcher with a 42-2 average for 22 games, Jim Lawson, R-4 as a pitcher, Joe Ranalli, Paul Evans and Bobby Spreer.

Poughkeepsie will be represented by Dick Whitesell, Jake Charter, Bobby Rathbun, Fran Whalen and Dick Sullivan.

Kingston's entries include Bill Glaser, Red Gersline, Bob Schaffer, Augie Passante, Lefty Passante, Harry Kite and Tom Carlinio.

Yonkers Feature To Ferman Hanover

Yonkers, Oct. 10 (AP)—Ferman Hanover, six year old gelding owned by Cleo A. Young of Timonville, S. C., won the $6,000 junior free for all pace last night at Yonkers Raceway in 2:04.2.

Ferman Hanover, racing on the outside, the entire race, was second from the half mile to the top of the stretch. Here Hugh Bell sent Ferman Hanover into the lead which he managed to hold by a head margin over Scotch Spencer, driven by Neal Houslet. The return on Ferman Hanover was $3.70, $2.60, $2.40.

De Marcos on TV

Boston, Oct. 10 (AP)—The unrelated lightweight De Marcos, young Tony of Boston, and veteran Paddy of Brooklyn, will provide a 10-round boxing bout for a national television audience tonight at Mechanics building. The bout will be telecast by ABC at 9 p. m. (EST).

Trapshoots Slated In County Sunday

Ulster county marksmen will be occupied with two major trapshoots Sunday.

The annual county championships sponsored by the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster County will start at 9 a. m. at the Glasco Gun Club traps, with competition in five classes.

Action in the 20th annual turkey shoot is slated to start at 11 a. m. at the Simpson Memorial ski slope at Phenicia.

Browns Get Acid Test Tonight

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles, who generally were picked to stir up things in the National Football League this fall, tangle with the all-conquering Cleveland Browns tonight in a make-or-break game.

The league's 34th season is only two weeks old and the best the Eagles have done in two games is a 21-21 tie with Washington. In their other start they dropped a 31-21 decision to the San Francisco 49ers. At least they have been consistent in number of points scored in each game.

By contrast the Browns top the Eastern Conference with two victories, scored at the expense of Green Bay and the Chicago Cardinals. In each game Paul Brown's boys tallied 27 points while holding the Packers scoreless and checking the Cardinals with seven.

Graham Ageless

With Otto Graham showing no signs of age insofar as his dead-end passing is concerned, the Browns figure to remain unbeaten and march on to another conference championship.

The remainder of the league sees action tomorrow. Baltimore plays the Bears at Chicago. The Cardinals will be at Pittsburgh. Los Angeles Rams and the Packers tangle at Milwaukee. New York's offense Giants hope to get their winless clicking against the Redskins at Washington and the 49ers and the Lions clash at Detroit in a game between the unbeaten leaders of the Western Conference.

The Lions may be champions of the league but they haven't played like that against the 49ers in recent years. Since 1905 the west coast eleven has whipped Detroit five times, including twice last year by 17-3 and 29-0 scores.

But some of the boys say the San Francisco defense is not powerful enough this time to halt the running of Doak Walker and Booby Hoernschmeyer and the passing of Bobby Lane.

Coletti Captures Second Flight in Woodstock Golf

Phil Coletti of West Shokan captured the 1953 second flight golf title at Woodstock Country Club with a surprise 4 and 3 triumph over Ted King in the 18-hole finals.

King advanced to the second round with a forfeit over Harry Kaprelian, then trounced Jerry Walters 8 and 7 and downed Don Waterous, 2-up.

Principals in Sunday's Game

By CHARLES J. FIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

The biggest high school football game in recent Mid-Hudson history is due to unfold Saturday, Oct. 24, at Poughkeepsie. That's the day Sam Kalloch's best post-war Blues tangle with Kingston High's Maroons in the showdown for the 1953 DUSO title.

Portly Sam Kalloch has waited a long time for his moment in the football sun. It appears to be close at hand.

Just how good is this Poughkeepsie monster? In case you didn't hear, they romped over Newburgh Academy, 41-14, and could have made it worse if the first string operators had gone all the way.

"Bo" Gill, a solid NFA rooster, privately predicted that Poughkeepsie would crush the Goldbacks "about 37 to 6". George Pauwels, the conservative, said "it's a sure thing."

Results of the contest confirmed Gill as a dehydrated Goldbacks, and revealed George in one of his rare moments of whimsy.

"Poughkeepsie this year is as good as the NFA machine of 1951," Gill asserts. "Kingston had better be on that day and playing them in Poughkeepsie doesn't make it any easier."

Presumably both teams will be undefeated up to that fateful day. The cataclysmic clash is expected to "steel" high school football fans from every important game in the mid-Hudson area. That's the sort of interest that is being built up for the big one.

Flotsam and Jetsam:

A flashback to the recent Seniors golf tournament: Floyd W. Elmer, Ralph E. Gardner and Wilson C. Ingalls deserve an orchid for their astute promotion of the 1953 event. Next year it goes to Woodstock Country Club's big fairways and will attract a larger entry. This must be a big year for the Columbia Lion. How about Harold F. King, the Old Blue, racking up an 85 gross in the Seniors? Carl Semmler, the Woodstock Country Club's Toots Shor, leaves for a European vacation around Nov. 15. Twaalfskill Golf Club women felt their 1953 champions at a kaffe klatsch on Tuesday afternoon. Karl Strobel, former KHS fullback, headed for his biggest season at Wagner College. As a freshman quarterback last year he hit with 8 of his 32 passing attempts, four of them going for TDs. Karl flipped the game-winning pass that nipped Susquehanna 32-36 in 1952, giving the Flying Dutchmen their sixth consecutive homecoming triumph on the last play of the game.

The Man at the Mike:

One of the more rewarding experiences in covering DUSO football is the biennial trek to Port Jervis where the dulcet tones of Al Chase, retired Red and Black football coach, come wafting out of the PA system. The man behind the PA mike is traditionally impartial except in Port Jervis. Al Chase doesn't mean any harm and we doubt if he realizes what he's saying on occasions. It is difficult for a man his age to remove completely his affinity with Port Jervis football. For instance, when one of Kingston High's intricate maneuvers went haywire against Port a few nights ago, Chase barked: "Hah! That play didn't fool anybody... he lost two yards." When Port was on the march, Al admonished the crowd, "Stop the noise please, stop the noise, the boys have to hear the signals." Port was trailing by plenty in the closing minutes and with the bravado born of desperation, Chase told the crowd, "Quite a little time, folks... quite a little time." Then came a "nice play by that guard" (a Red and Black lineman, of course). Nothing like a little school spirit.

Of Men and Mice:

Harry L. "Pop" Edson told listeners at the recent VFW banquet for the Fraternity Youth League team that he first rooted for Troy in the major leagues more than 70 years ago. That same Troy franchise later became the New York Giants of John McGraw. The venerable "Pop" told the youngsters there was one sure-fire formula for a full and happy life: "work hard and play hard." According to "Poppy" Burns of the Saugerties Post, Hans Schmidt, the top villain of pro wrestling has been exposed as a Canadian-born Frenchman by the name of Guy La Rose. Investigation by August Steuer, president of the Staatszeitung and Sport-Herald, an American newspaper in German language in New York, has proved beyond doubt the following facts about "Hans Schmidt": 1. That his name is not Hans Schmidt, that he is not German, that he was born in Montreal, Canada, and that his real name is Guy La Rose. This information has been verified by the Illinois Athletic Commission which reports that this so-called "Hans Schmidt", is registered there by his real name, Guy La Rose.

During an interview last August with Jack Brickhouse, the Saturday night Chicago TV spieler, Hans made himself the most hated wrestler all over the country. His statements aroused a wave of indignation, especially in German-American circles. He does not believe in sportsmanship. Hans told Brickhouse, and anybody who does believe in it is "nuts". His apology two weeks later only added insult to injury.

And the tree that grows in Brooklyn must certainly be a weeping willow since the World Series.

probably will get Troy's next fight.

Sandy was to have been Troy's opponent last night but he withdrew Tuesday with a bad eye and Moore filled in on four-days notice.

Against Troy, he just didn't have it.

Troy, a 4-1 favorite at ring time, weighed 158½ to Moore's 160½. A slim crowd of about 1,000 saw the "studio" show which was broadcast and telecast coast to coast.

Co-Manager Al Weil, who saw the telecast in Arkansas, telephoned to say that Troy would be ready to take on the winner of the Bobo Olson-Randy Turpin middleweight title fight.

"Troy is a good prospect, but not that good."

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—"Eight more fights and he'll be ready for a title shot."

That's what co-Manager George Winn said after his Willie Troy stopped rubbery Terry Moore of Baltimore in 2:49 of the seventh round of a telecast bout at St. Nicholas Arena last night.

It was no contest as the power-punching 21-year-old Washington, D. C., middleweight scored his 22nd victory and 16th knockout. A knockout loss to Holly Mims is the only blot on his record.

Next in line for Willie is either Randy Turpin or the winner of the Tuzo (Kid) Portuguese and Pierre Langlois, Chicago or St. Louis

Police Identify Gun Used in Two Turnpike Murders

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 10 (AP)—Pennsylvania State Police today positively identified a foreign-made pistol as the gun used in the murder of two truckers on the Pennsylvania Turnpike and the wounding of another driver.

Col. C. Wilhelm, state police commissioner, announced that today as law officers continued the hunt for a 26-year-old "highly dangerous" man sought in connection with the killings.

Lt. Louis Whitecotton, state police ballistics expert, ran the gun through a series of intensive tests to link the gun with the slugs used in the shootings, said Wilhelm.

Study Other Details
"We found it to be the same weapon used in all cases," said Wilhelm. "We are now conferring with Ohio police authorities and working out further details."

The German pistol was brought here for the tests after Cleveland homicide Capt. David E. Kerr of Cleveland, Ohio, said firings there connected John Wesley Wable, described as a dark, thin-faced man, with the wounding of John K. Shepard, 34, while he slept in his truck near Lisbon, Ohio, last July.

Last night in Cleveland employees of an auto agency said a man who looked like Wable took out a car for a demonstration ride and failed to return. The man left behind a stolen car.

Boasted of Slays
The pistol and Wable are the center of an interlocked series of developments which pieced together looks like this:

In Uniontown, Pa., Dist. Atty. Fred L. Brothers quoted a prisoner, Charles R. Welch, 20, of Grindstone, Pa., as saying Wable told him when the two shared a jail cell recently:

"What would you think if I told you I had committed the Turnpike killings? . . . Well, I did. I killed two truckers in Pennsylvania and one in Ohio."

Police Identify Gun Used in Two Turnpike Murders

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 10 (AP)—Pennsylvania State Police today positively identified a foreign-made pistol as the gun used in the murder of two truckers on the Pennsylvania Turnpike and the wounding of another driver.

Col. C. Wilhelm, state police commissioner, announced that today as law officers continued the hunt for a 26-year-old "highly dangerous" man sought in connection with the killings.

Lt. Louis Whitecotton, state police ballistics expert, ran the gun through a series of intensive test to link the gun with the slugs used in the shootings, said Wilhelm.

Study Other Details
"We found it to be the same weapon used in all cases," said Wilhelm. "We are now conferring with Ohio police authorities and working out further details."

The German pistol was brought here for the tests after Cleveland homicide Capt. David E. Kerr of Cleveland, Ohio, said frings there connected John Wesley Wable, described as a dark, thin-faced man, with the wounding of John K. Shepard, 34, while he slept in his truck near Lisbon, Ohio, last July.

Last night in Cleveland employees of an auto agency said a man who looked like Wable took out a car for a demonstration ride and failed to return. The man left behind a stolen car.

Boasted of Slayings
The pistol and Wable are the center of an interlocked series of developments which pieced together looks like this:

In Uniontown, Pa., Dist. Atty. Fred L. Brothers quoted a prisoner, Charles R. Welch, 20, of Grindstone, Pa., as saying Wable told him when the two shared a jail cell recently:

"What would you think if I told you I had committed the Turnpike killings?" Welch said. "I killed two truckers in Pennsylvania and one in Ohio."

Arterial Route Is Business Subject

The proposed arterial route connection between the city and the New York State Thruway was discussed at a meeting of the Central Business Men's Association in the YMCA Thursday night, but it was decided to defer any action by the association until after the general meeting on the proposal in the city hall Oct. 15.

Herbert C. Myers, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce arterial route committee, and also a member of the Central Business Men's Association, presented some details on the proposal, but felt that the subject could be developed best at the meeting next Thursday.

State engineers announced recently that the state public works department is now basing its plans on a connection of the arterial spur with Broadway at a point near Albany avenue, but this does not mean that the site has been selected definitely.

The association named a committee to discuss a Christmas promotion plan. It is scheduled to hold its first meeting next week.

The first phase of this New York UEM takes place next week. ### Rally Day Slated At Paltz Church

New Paltz, Oct. 9.—Sunday, Oct. 11, marks the date of the annual Rally Day observance of the New Paltz Methodist Church and church school. The special service of worship will begin at 10:15 with organ preludes by John Engesser and Mrs. Eugene Trautwein, church organists. ## Claims Child-Bearing Speed Record

Mrs. Corinne Mock, 24, of Chicago, thinks she holds a child-bearing speed record. She is shown with her seven sons, all single births, who were born within five years, 10 months and eight days. Front row, left to right: Robert, 4; Kenneth, 1; Raymond, 3; and Rudolph, 6. Rear, left to right: Gerald, 2; Mrs. Mock, holding Michael, 6 weeks, and Herbert, 5. She said three of her sons were born in slightly more than 21 months.

"GOOD WORD" FLOATS OVER THE IRON CURTAIN — Members of the International Council of Christian Churches operating in Cham, Bavaria, launch balloons carrying Bible excerpts for people behind the Iron Curtain. They have released 5000 such balloons toward Czechoslovakia, Poland, Russia, and plan to continue and intensify their campaign.

Tito Sends Troops But Also Offers Surprise Solution

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Oct. 10 (AP)—President Tito sent troops into the Yugoslav Zone B of Trieste today and threatened to use them if Italian forces move into Zone A. But he offered a surprise "solution" which would turn the vital port city into an autonomous unit under Italian sovereignty.

This was Tito's answer to the decision by the United States and Britain to pull their troops out of the Adriatic Seaport—Zone A—and turn it over to Italian administration.

Tito's foreign office formally protested to London and Washington against that decision and the tough Yugoslav leader today bitterly declared his country would consider the movement of Italian troops into Trieste "an act of aggression."

Protest Rejected
In London, the British Foreign Office formally rejected the Tito protest and said in a statement it was "difficult to see how an act of aggression could be committed by the movement of Italian troops into territory which is not Yugoslav."

The new Tito proposal appeared at first glance to be a major Yugoslav concession. His previous demand was that the city be turned into an international port and the surrounding territory—now Zone B—be handed outright to Yugoslavia.

Final Offer Indicated
Tito's new proposal called for both zones to become separate autonomous units—Zone A under Italian sovereignty and Zone B under Yugoslav sovereignty—"for 10 or more years."

He indicated this was his final offer and threatened that if it was not given serious consideration by the west "there will be no peace in this part of Europe."

Critical Floods Feared
Miami, Fla., Oct. 10 (AP)—The eighth tropical storm of the season whirled northeastward over the Atlantic today after slashing across the Florida peninsula with mile-a-minute winds and heavy rains which added to the flood danger in some areas. The storm formed in the Gulf of Mexico and swept over the state on a path about 10 miles wide and 150 miles long from Punta Gorda on the west coast to Vero Beach on the Atlantic side. Much of the state already was waterlogged and rain from the tropical disturbance brought a threat of critical floods in some sections.

Farm Protests Pose New Trouble in France

Paris, Oct. 10 (AP)—Premier Joseph Laniel's right-center government, fresh from victory over left wing opponents of its economic program, worked feverishly today to quell angry farm protests against falling prices.

More than 300,000 farmers in the southwest third of the nation have announced they will barricade highways Monday to call attention to their demands for prices. They also want some marketing reforms to reduce the number of middlemen.

The farm protests posed the threat of serious parliamentary trouble for the government. Peasant party deputies, who form a part of Laniel's coalition in the assembly, have indicated they may try to force a debate on the cabinet's agricultural policies when the National Assembly meets Tuesday.

Reds Ask Allies Send Delegations On Korean Parley

Tokyo, Oct. 10 (AP)—The Communists proposed tonight over Peiping radio that the allies and Reds send delegations to Panmunjom to discuss when and where to hold the Korean political conference and what nations shall take part in it.

The Chinese-language broadcast heard here quoted Red China's premier and Foreign Minister Chou En-lai as saying he wants a reply to this from the United States and the UN.

Peiping said this is Chou's reply to allied notes sent recently to the Reds outlining plans for the conference.

The latest U. S. note, its fourth, was sent to Communist China and North Korea Thursday. Three others had been ignored.

Allies Ready
The message told the Reds the allies are ready to negotiate and added that "if your side has any intention" of holding the peace talks, "there can be no reason for your side to refuse to get on with the conference."

The United States urged the Reds to give an early answer. The U. S. message informed the Communists officially that the UN Assembly is standing by the plan it approved Aug. 28 which would limit the peace conference to the belligerents plus Russia, if invited by the Communists to sit on their side. Strong opposition to the U. S.-sponsored plan was beaten down in the Assembly before it passed.

Check Being Made On Various Stories About Kidnaping

Kansas City, Oct. 10 (AP)—Methodical investigation of all facets of the Greenleaf kidnap-allegations was pushed today by authorities seeking to clear up discrepancies in stories told by the boy's admitted abductors.

Carl Austin Hall, 34, who planned the kidnaping, and Bonnie Brown Heady, 41-year-old divorcee who took Bobby Greenleaf, 6, from his private school, were to be brought here from St. Louis where they were arrested Wednesday.

Time of the trip and the method of transportation were kept secret by federal authorities. Officials in St. Louis said details of the transfer were being withheld for security reasons.

FBI agents said last night they would continue to question the pair after their arrival in Kansas City in an effort to fit together the missing pieces in the case.

$300,000 Still Missing
Still unaccounted for is $300,000, half the ransom paid by Bobby's 71-year-old father, Robert C. Greenleaf, wealthy Kansas City automobile dealer. Hall, who had some $290,000 in his possession when arrested, has said he doesn't know what happened to the remainder of the money.

Still sought is Thomas Marsh, 37-year-old ex-convict, named by Hall as his accomplice in the kidnaping. Hall has blamed the slaying on the missing man, saying he turned Bobby over to him a short time after the child was taken from his school. But authorities have raised doubts that Marsh even was involved in the plot.

Still being closely checked is the station wagon in which Hall and Mrs. Heady drove to St. Joseph, Mo., after the kidnaping. The FBI declined to comment on what clues it might have discovered in the vehicle, which was found abandoned in North Kansas City.

China Celebrates Freedom
Taipei, Formosa, Oct. 10 (AP)—Nationalist China celebrated its double 10th independence day today with a flag-studded show of its reviving military power.

The crack 52nd Army and other military units goose-stepped in review before President Chiang Kai-shek and other Nationalist and foreign officials this morning. American-built jets delivered to the Nationalist Air Force earlier this year roared overhead.

Hudsonian Named In Tax Fix Case Who Paid $18,000

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—H. Harold Miller, Catskill public accountant whose testimony has implicated five former internal revenue agents in an alleged income tax fix conspiracy, said yesterday he lied under oath before but now was telling the truth as a matter of "self-preservation."

Miller was under cross-examination after having testified about approximately $35,000 which he said had been paid by taxpayers in the Albany area to avoid examination and audit of their income tax returns.

On trial as members of the alleged conspiracy are Maurice F. O'Brien, former group chief of the Troy office of the Internal Revenue Bureau; and four men who worked under him. Miller is named as a co-conspirator in the indictment but is not a defendant.

In his cross-examination, Miller said one of his clients had paid $18,000 to "fix up" state and federal income taxes.

Faces Jail, Fine
Miller, who faces a possible six-year jail term and a $10,000 fine for extortion, identified the client as Morris Spector, of Spector Brothers, Inc., of Hudson and Germantown.

Miller had testified that Spector paid $6,000 to a defendant, Murray Talanker, of Albany, a certified public accountant and former revenue agent.

Miller had told the jury he decided to question Talanker about the possibility of fixing the federal case because he knew that Talanker was familiar with an earlier state audit of the return of Spector Brothers, Inc.

Under cross-examination by Sol Gelb, attorney for Talanker, Miller insisted that no promises had been made to him after he decided to become a witness. He said he reached that decision after his bail was revoked and he was sent to federal detention headquarters on West street, when he was convicted last fall on charges of extorting money from two Cairo businessmen.

Hopes to Escape Prison
"I assumed myself—if I became a government witness I am hopeful I will not be sentenced to jail," he conceded under questioning.

Under questioning by Moses Polakoff, attorney for O'Brien, Miller testified that after he was indicted in early 1951 on the extortion charges, he told O'Brien that "if he didn't help the thing would be wide open."

"You busted it wide open after your conviction," Polakoff asked. "I was thinking of myself," Miller said.

"You're always thinking of yourself," Polakoff wanted to know.

"That is self-preservation," Miller replied.

The defense lawyer wanted to know if Miller would lie to preserve himself. The witness said: "I may have lied under oath before, but not in this courtroom. This is an important part of my life, and I want to tell the truth."

Grand Jury Launches Work Stoppage Probe

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—A federal grand jury has started an investigation of a work stoppage on Brooklyn piers, hearing among its first witnesses two longshoremen under 24-hour police guard.

The jury started the probe yesterday and presumably is trying to determine whether the stoppage violates a Taft-Hartley labor law injunction obtained by the government Monday to end a strike of longshoremen between Portland, Maine, and Hampton Roads, Va.

U. S. Attorney J. Edward Lumbard declined to comment to newsmen asking him if he planned to call Brooklyn longshoremen leader Anthony (Tony) Anastasia, who has been blamed by the American Federation of Labor for the stoppage.

Arterial Route Is Business Subject

The proposed arterial route connection between the city and the New York State Thruway was discussed at a meeting of the Central Business Men's Association in the YMCA Thursday night, but it was decided to defer any action by the association until after the general meeting on the proposal in the city hall Oct. 15.

Herbert C. Myers, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce arterial route committee, and also a member of the Central Business Men's Association, presented some details on the proposal, but felt that the subject could be developed best at the meeting next Thursday.

State engineers announced recently that the state public works department is now basing its plans on a connection of the arterial spur with Broadway at a point near Albany avenue, but this does not mean that the site has been selected definitely.

The association named a committee to discuss a Christmas promotion plan. It is scheduled to hold its first meeting next week.

Tito Sends Troops But Also Offers Surprise Solution

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Oct. 10 (AP)—President Tito sent troops into the Yugoslav Zone B of Trieste today and threatened to use them if Italian forces move into Zone A. But he offered a surprise "solution" which would turn the vital port city into an autonomous unit under Italian sovereignty.

This was Tito's answer to the decision by the United States and Britain to pull their troops out of the Adriatic seaport—Zone A—and turn it over to Italian administration.

Tito's foreign office formally protested to London and Washington against that decision and the tough Yugoslav leader today bitterly declared his country would consider the movement of Italian troops into Trieste "an act of aggression."

Protest Rejected
In London, the British Foreign Office formally rejected the Tito protest and said in a statement it was "difficult to see how an act of aggression could be committed by the movement of Italian troops into territory which is not Yugoslav."

The new Tito proposal appeared at first glance to be a major Yugoslav concession. His previous demand was that the city be turned into an international port and the surrounding territory—now Zone B—be handed outright to Yugoslavia.

Final Offer Indicated
Tito's new proposal called for both zones to become separate autonomous units—Zone A under Italian sovereignty and Zone B under Yugoslav sovereignty—"for 10 or more years."

He indicated this was his final offer and threatened that if it was not given serious consideration by the west "there will be no peace in this part of Europe."

Farm Protests Pose New Trouble in France

Paris, Oct. 10 (AP)—Premier Joseph Laniel's right-center government, fresh from victory over left wing opponents of its economic program, worked feverishly today to quell angry farm protests against falling prices.

More than 200,000 farmers in the southwest third of the nation have announced they will barricade highways Monday to call attention to their demands for legislation to prop livestock prices. They also want some marketing reforms to reduce the number of middlemen.

The farm protests posed the threat of serious parliamentary trouble for the government. Peasant party deputies, who form a part of Laniel's coalition in the assembly, have indicated they may try to force a debate on the cabinet's agricultural policies when the National Assembly meets Tuesday.

Reds Ask Allies Send Delegations On Korean Parley

Tokyo, Oct. 10 (AP)—The Communists proposed tonight over Peiping radio that the allies and Reds send delegations to Panmunjom to discuss when and where to hold the Korean political conference and what nations shall take part in it.

The Chinese-language broadcast heard here quoted Red China's premier and Foreign Minister Chou En-lai as saying he wants a reply to this from the United States and the UN.

Peiping said this is Chou's reply to allied notes sent recently to the Reds outlining plans for the conference.

The latest U. S. note, its fourth, was sent to Communist China and North Korea Thursday. Three others had been ignored.

Allies Ready
The message told the Reds the allies are ready to negotiate and added that "if your side has any intention" of holding the peace talks, "there can be no reason for your side to refuse to get on with the conference."

The United States urged the Reds to give an early answer. The U. S. message informed the Communists officially that the UN Assembly is standing by the plan it approved Aug. 28 which would limit the peace conference to the belligerents plus Russia, if invited by the Communists to sit on their side. Strong opposition to the U. S.-sponsored plan was beaten down in the Assembly before it passed.

Hudsonian Named In Tax Fix Case Who Paid $18,000

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—H. Harold Miller, Catskill public accountant whose testimony has implicated five former internal revenue agents in an alleged income tax fix conspiracy, said yesterday he lied under oath before but now was telling the truth as a matter of "self-preservation."

Miller was under cross-examination after having testified about approximately $35,000 which he said had been paid by taxpayers in the Albany area to avoid examination and audit of their income tax returns.

On trial as members of the alleged conspiracy are Maurice F. O'Brien, former group chief of the Troy office of the Internal Revenue Bureau; and four men who worked under him. Miller is named as a co-conspirator in the indictment but is not a defendant.

In his cross-examination, Miller said one of his clients had paid $18,000 to "state and federal income taxes."

Faces Jail, Fine

Miller, who faces a possible six-year jail term and a $10,000 fine for extortion, identified the client as Morris Spector, of Spector Brothers, Inc., of Hudson and Germantown.

Miller had testified that Spector paid $6,000 to a defendant, Murray Talanker, of Albany, a certified public accountant and former revenue agent.

Miller had told the jury he decided to question Talanker about the possibility of fixing the federal case because he knew that Talanker was familiar with an earlier state audit of the return of Spector Brothers, Inc.

Under cross-examination by Sol Gelb, attorney for Talanker, Miller insisted that no promises had been made to him after he decided to become a witness. He said he reached that decision after his bail was revoked and he was sent to federal detention headquarters on West street, when he was convicted last fall on charges of extorting money from two Cairo businessmen.

Hopes to Escape Prison

"I assumed myself—if I became a government witness I am hopeful I will not be sentenced to jail," he conceded under questioning.

Under questioning by Moses Polakoff, attorney for O'Brien, Miller testified that after he was indicted in early 1951 on the extortion charges, he told O'Brien that "if he didn't help the thing would be wide open."

"You busted it wide open after your conviction?" Polakoff asked. "I was thinking of myself," Miller said.

"You're always thinking of yourself," Polakoff wanted to know. "That is self-preservation," Miller replied.

The defense lawyer wanted to know if Miller would lie to preserve himself. The witness said: "I may have lied under oath before, but not in this courtroom. This is an important part of my life, and I want to tell the truth."

Grand Jury Launches Work Stoppage Probe

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—A federal grand jury has started an investigation of a work stoppage on Brooklyn piers, hearing among its first witnesses two longshoremen under 24-hour police guard. The jury started the probe yesterday and presumably is trying to determine whether the stoppage violates a Taft-Hartley labor law injunction obtained by the government Monday to end a strike of longshoremen between Portland, Maine, and Hampton Roads, Va.

U. S. Attorney J. Edward Lumbard declined to comment to newsmen asking him if he planned to call Brooklyn longshoremen leader Anthony (Tough Tony) Anastasia, who has been blamed by the American Federation of Labor for the stoppage.

Still being closely checked is the station wagon in which Hall and Mrs. Heady drove to St. Joseph Mo., after the kidnapping. The FBI declined to comment on what clues it might have discovered in the vehicle, which was found abandoned in North Kansas City.
